R.A.F. Bombs Italy

Recent British air activity is illustrated in this new map. Shaded parts show areas attacked most frequently by British night fighters. Also marked is the possible location of capture of German submarine in the Atlantic as a result of a bombing raid.

LONDON (CP)—Cannon-carrying British Spitfire fighter planes raided northern France, Belgium and Holland today, attacking air-dromes and hangars of the occupied territories, the Air Ministry reported tonight.

R.A.F. bombers raided Turin last night in the heaviest attack yet made on northern Italy, the Air Ministry said earlier. Other targets in the area also were blasted.

The main objective of the many heavy bombers taking part in the assault on Turin was given as the royal arsenal. Large fires were left burning. Four British planes were lost in the attacks.

The last previous attack on northern Italy occurred the night of January 12-13 when Turin was raided for the 15th time.

The attackers were led by Britain's new Stirling and Halifax four-motored bombers. It was the first time they had crossed the Alps, although some of the crews which bombed Turin were over Berlin Sunday night.

LIKE PLEASURE TRIP

They described the trip to Italy as "like an airliner trip in peace-time."

The pilot of a two-engined Wellington which took part in the raid came down to 2,000 feet to plant five large fires, the Air Ministry said. Another crew counted 34 fires and said smoke was rising 7,000 feet from a single blaze in the centre of the city.

Other bombs hit a big factory, it was stated.

One pilot said: "Things seemed to burst out of the fire and explode at heights of from 2,000 to 6,000 feet. Flashes were visible from the French side of the Alps on the homeward journey."

Turin and other northern Italian industrial centres which were attacked last winter by the R.A.F. are about the same distance from airdromes in Britain as Berlin—roughly a minimum of 1,200 miles for the round trip.

Over the British Isles, meanwhile, a communique for the second successive night said there was nothing to report.

ADMITTED IN ROME

ROME (AP)—British planes bombed Genoa and Turin last night, the Italian high command reported today, the communique saying the raiders "dropped several bombs" on the outskirts of Genoa and Turin.

SHIPS DAMAGED

CAIRO (AP)—The R.A.F. reported today it scored main hits on docks and quays and believed three merchant ships were damaged in a raid the night of September 8 and 9 on Palermo, Sicily. Airdromes at Catania and Verina were bombed the same night. A power station, ferries and landing stages at Messina, Sicily, were raided the night of September 9 and 10.

VICHY FIRES

VICHY, France (AP)—Anti-aircraft guns opened fire today on a plane which flew over Vichy during the early hours this morning. Vichy spokesmen asserted the plane was British.

Inhabitants who were up at 2 a.m. could hear the roar of the airplane motors and the sound of anti-aircraft fire.

It was forbidden at first, however, to speak of the presence of the fliers over this seat of government although there had been a two-hour air alarm before.

The hour the R.A.F. planes were reported over Vichy suggests they may have been returning from Italian forays.)

Final Bulletins Bulgaria Charged

LONDON (CP)—The Soviet government tonight formally charged Bulgaria with turning her seaports, airports and soil over to Germany and Italy for attacks on Russia, particularly against the Crimea, the Caucasus and Odessa.

Shot Near Douai

VICHY, France (AP)—A policeman was shot today near the town of Douai, close to the Belgian border, by an accomplice of alleged Communists whom he had arrested, Paris newspapers reported.

In Paris one of the new anti-Communist courts sentenced seven persons, including two women, to prison terms varying from two to seven years.

558 BOMBERS LOST

LONDON (CP)—The R.A.F. lost 558 bombers in western Europe between April 1 and September 8, Capt. Harold Balfour, Under-Secretary of State for Air, disclosed in the House of Commons today. This period included the unusually heavy mass attacks on Germany and German-occupied territory undertaken this summer.

KELOWNA (CP)—A. K. Loyd, president and general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited, grower's selling agency, announced today conclusion of a contract between the Canadian and British governments for purchase of 1,500,000 boxes of Okanagan apples by the United Kingdom.

Predicts Invasion

BERLIN (AP)—Britain will be invaded "at a time and in a manner which the English do not expect," a German military expert predicted tonight in the widely-circulated weekly Das Reich.

"England may rest assured that the catastrophe is nearer than help," the article said.

The Dienst aus Deutschland commentary emphasized the "great importance" of the statement because of its publication in the weekly, to which Propaganda Minister Goebbels is a regular contributor.

Norway Uprisings

2 Labor Leaders Shot By Nazis, Others Jailed

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The state of civil siege proclaimed by German officials in occupied Oslo was expected here today to be extended to other areas of Nazi-conquered Norway.

Reports reaching here said the situation was critical in the cities of Moss, Fredrikstad and Sarpsborg, on the railroad line connecting Oslo and the east shore of the Oslofjord with the Swedish coast.

The same sharp repressive measures imposed on Oslo and its environs yesterday by the German commissioner for Norway, Joseph Terboven, probably will be enforced there, these sources said.

LEADERS SHOT

In Oslo, where two Norwegian labor leaders already had died before a firing squad, another been sent to prison for life and three others for terms of 10 to 15 years, the Germans were said to have augmented their military forces and locked the city and its suburbs in a tight encirclement.

The stated reason for the proclamation was that a general strike of Norwegian workers had been set for today and reports here said Quisling agents in the Norwegian labor movement may have betrayed the plans.

Besides those shot and imprisoned in the first swift judgments before military courts, the leader of the Norwegian federation of labor was removed and arrested.

Terboven appointed Odd Fossum, leader of the Nasjonal

Samling's labor organization, as commissar leader. The Nasjonal Samling is the Nazi organization of Major Vidkun Quisling and the appointment thus puts the federation into the Norwegian Nazi corporative structure.

The whole board of the employers' organization also was removed and placed under police observation. A Quisling collaborator took over that group, too.

STRIKES FINISH

An Associated Press report from Oslo said authorities announced work was resumed today after two days of strikes in the iron and ship-building industries.

The executed men were Viggo Hansteen, secretary of the Norwegian labor federation, and Rolf Vikstrom, trades union president, advices from the German-occupied country said.

They were shot after Terboven refused petitions for their pardon. Details of the charges against the men were not given. The Norwegian minister of welfare, Prof. Birger Meidell, said in a broadcast from Oslo last night a small strike which occurred in Oslo several days ago made it clear Terboven would proclaim a state of siege.

An even smaller strike movement also had broken out, he said, because Oslo workers had not received their ordinary milk ration.

The minister then accented that the state of war between Germany and Norway was not at an end and in expressing the hope striking workers would go back to their jobs immediately he warned against any new strikes.

He said he had evidence of Bolshevik disruptive activities, and in warning Oslo in particular and Norway in general against these forces, he said:

"I do not dare to think what will happen if there is a new strike. You have seen that the Germans will not stand for any fooling."

PROMINENT

Hansteen, one of the executed men, was a lawyer and one of the most prominent men in the Norwegian labor movement. He was 41. He was a member of the Communist Party for some time, but left when Russia invaded Finland in 1939.

Vikstrom was a well-known figure in Norwegian workers' youth organizations, and one of the leaders of transport workers.

Steel-helmeted police patrolled the streets of Oslo last night. A stringent curfew barred Norwegians from the streets between 8 p.m. and 5 a.m., forbade the sale of alcohol, banned dancing, shut down movies and theatres.

The decree compelled Norwegians to surrender their radio sets immediately, ordered all communications suspended nightly at 7.30 and restaurants closed at 7, and prohibited gatherings in public places or the streets.

A BBC announcement said the Norwegian press reported "complete chaos" developing in the Norwegian civil administration because of a German attempt to remove all anti-Nazis from office.)

RIOTS IN GERMANY?

LONDON (CP)—Riots have occurred in Berlin, Cologne and Aix-la-Chapelle, according to the free Belgian news agency, Inbel, which said that in Cologne troops opened fire on rioting crowds.

The agency also quoted a Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper, Dagens Nyheter, as saying a German military tribunal at Liege had sentenced to death eight persons charged with sabotage.

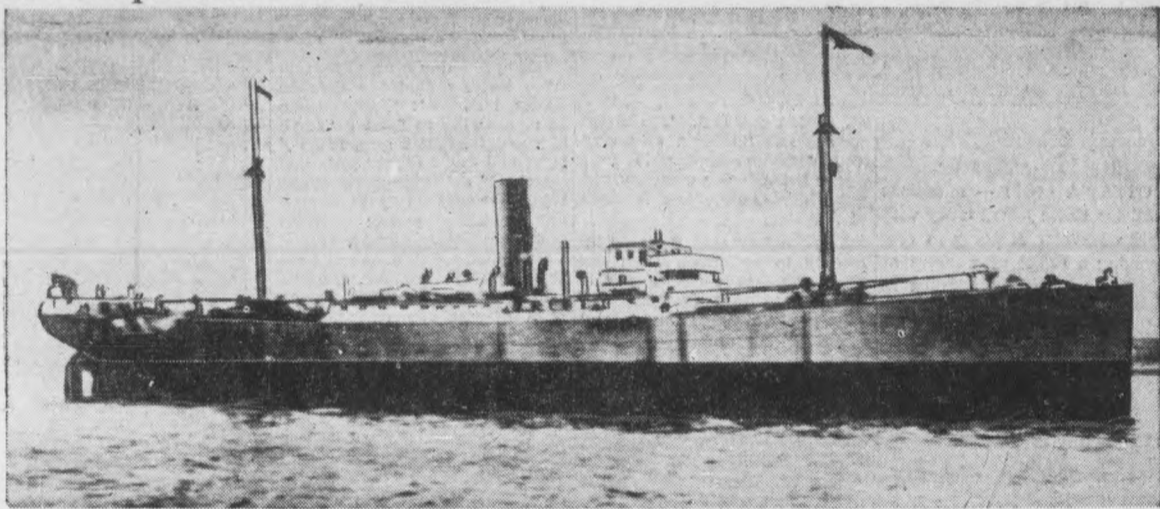

It was alleged that on two consecutive nights they tried to blow up a high tension cable outside Liege. Three other persons, including women, were sentenced to prison.

The agency gave no details of the reported riots, but said it had learned that they had taken place.

Disturbances in Oslo and declaration of martial law there are "very definite evidence that Quisling has failed in his assigned task of pacifying the Norwegian people, and now the job has been turned over to Heinrich Himmler and his Gestapo," a Norwegian government official declared here today.

He asserted Vidkun Quisling, the Norwegian Nazi leader, had been handed the job of keeping Norway tranquil while the German armies were busy in Russia, but that he had succeeded only "in uniting our people and making them a violently hostile nation."

U.S. Ship That Nazis Bombed

Here's the American freighter Steel Seafarer which, according to the State Department, was sunk by an unidentified bomber in the Red Sea just a few days after the attack by a German submarine on the U.S. destroyer Greer. The crew of the ship, which was bound for Egypt with supplies for the British, was saved.

Reds Push 12 Miles Into Enemy Lines

By Associated Press
The Red Army declared today its counter-attacks had pushed as deep as 12 miles into German lines on the central front and repulsed a German-Finnish attempt to cut the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad on the north.

Berlin acknowledged that at one point on the Russian front, tank-supported Soviet forces broke into the German lines, but claimed they were repelled.

Red Star, army newspaper, said defenders of Leningrad also had taken the initiative on the approaches to that city and had closed in on a German-occupied point from three sides.

Berlin announced German planes showered Leningrad early today with pamphlets, urging its citizens not to defend the city.

Soviet planes scattered 20,000 propaganda leaflets at the rear of the German lines.

Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter went to press this morning with not a single war report on its front page.

German spokesmen said Russians must decide whether Leningrad is to be taken as a fairly-intact city, or as a heap of debris.

A high Nazi official in Berlin claimed the Germans were in a position to inflict much heavier punishment on Leningrad, but were withholding their full might to give its citizens a chance to reconsider defence tactics.

The pamphlets warned that if a civilian house-to-house defence were attempted, Leningrad would be subjected to a more general bombardment.

By last night, a Russian report said, Soviet forces had regained 10 villages.

Red Star said Soviet bombers "do not allow Fascist troops a moment's respite, dropping tons of metal on their heads continuously, destroying tank columns and exterminating the enemy's manpower."

An editorial in Pravda, Communist Party organ, declared the tenacious defence of Leningrad, Kiev and Odessa was making their approaches an Axis graveyard. It compared those cities with Verdun in the first Great War, when the German sent hundreds of thousands of soldiers against the never-captured French fortress, which Pravda called a "mincing machine."

"Verdun undermined the strength of the German army," said the editorial. "Not one, but many Verduns are already minning the frenzied Fascist hordes."

More than 300 German planes, added Pravda, lie scattered around Leningrad.

German prisoners, a communique reported, said epidemics of influenza and dysentery had struck among the invaders, "weary and exhausted by the sustained fighting."

British Columbians will turn clocks back to standard time at midnight, September 27, after two and one-half months on daylight saving.

The change is being made on the 27th instead of the 30th, as a convenience to the Canadian Broadcasting Company in rearranging its programs, Premier Pattullo said, when he announced the drafting of the necessary order.

COURTENAY (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Halliday have received word from the British Air Ministry that their son, Flight-Lieut. J. T. Halliday, formerly reported missing in action, August 30, with the R.A.F. in North Africa, is now believed killed.

P.E.O. Votes $1,000 To War Effort

As an international gesture of its deep concern for the great effort being made by the British Empire in the fight against the aggressor nations, the Supreme Chapter P.E.O. in convention this morning unanimously voted $1,000 to the Canadian P.E.O.'s war effort.

Although the Canadian P.E.O. embraces chapters in Ontario and Manitoba, the British Columbia chapters are much stronger numerically, and the disposition of this generous donation will rest largely with them.

As chairman of the convention arrangements, Mrs. P. B. Scurrah accepted the gift on behalf of the Canadian chapters, describing it as yet another evidence of the happy relations and good-neighborliness existing between the United States and Canada and another earnest of the ultimate victory of the forces of right over the forces of evil.

TAYLOR AT VATICAN

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Myron Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal envoy to the Vatican, conferred today with Luigi Cardinal Maglione, Papal Secretary of State, for the second time in two days in an important exchange of views between the White House and the Vatican.

War and peace aims, it was indicated last night, figured largely in the talks between Mr. Taylor and Pope Pius and the Cardinal yesterday.

Informed sources said they understood the envoy told the Pope that, in so far as Russia was concerned, Mr. Roosevelt was more interested in the welfare of the world's peoples than in the form of government as such.

Roosevelt Speaks at 7 p.m.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt's radio address on foreign policy tonight was described at the White House today as one which will be "all-covering, and will leave no unanswered questions." Mr. Roosevelt will speak 25 minutes.

As the President went over a completed draft of his address with Senate and House Democrat and Republican leaders, Stephen Early told reporters the speech "will mean what it says and will be written in English—English that will need no translation. Foreign languages need translation; English, no."

With reports and speculation flying as to contents of the address, the President called Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to the White House for a conference this morning and it was taken for granted the speech figured in the discussion.

As far as the White House was concerned, apparently, the exact contents of the speech would remain confidential until Mr. Roosevelt starts speaking at 10 p.m., E.D.T. (7 p.m., P.D.T.). All networks will carry the address, and all available short wave units will relay it both in English and in foreign tongues.

Prisoner of War

Sergt. Observer Harold Calvert, reported missing in a bombing raid over Germany three weeks ago, is a prisoner of war. Word to this effect was received today from Mrs. Calvert in London by Calvert's aunt, Mrs. Bob Owens. Calvert was a member of the B.C. Police for several years. His wife was the former Margot Homer-Dixon of this city.

Move to Check Army Domination Of Japan Policy

TOKYO (AP)—A national defence headquarters under direct control of the Emperor and apparently apart from the regular Imperial high command was established today for Japan, Korea, Formosa and Sakhalin. The new system was interpreted as designed to strengthen home defence and at the same time to check militaristic domination of Imperial policy and erect a barrier to possible dissatisfaction among the military group with the future course of events.

Gen. Otoyo Yamada, an old-line conservative whose fame dates back to the Russo-Japanese war, was named commander-in-chief of the new headquarters, answerable directly to Emperor Hirohito, in whose favor he is said to rank high.

The government announced coal supplies would be rationed this winter with priority given to factories, stores and plants where coal is indispensable for defence needs. Gasoline already has been rationed.

With further operation of gasoline-powered taxicabs banned and charcoal-burners restricted, the rain-soaked streets of Tokyo presented a particularly deserted appearance today.

The newspaper Yomiuri called it a "return to the good old days," accompanying its feature article with a large picture of Jimikisha on the main street.

Only physicians, local newspapermen and government officials were permitted to operate gasoline automobiles.

NO AGREEMENT

SHANGHAI (AP)—Well-informed circles in Shanghai expressed belief today no agreement between United States and Japan is likely at present, despite indications from Washington and Tokyo that an accord might be near.

Tending to strengthen this negative impression, a high Japanese army officer said that while Japan is anxiously seeking an agreement with United States, "it must be at the expense of Chungking."

Unconfirmed Chinese reports from Peiping said the Chinese National Socialist Party there was preparing to form a "north China autonomous government," purpose being to forestall any effect of a Japanese-American rapprochement on north China's already fairly strong political and economic autonomy.

Prompted by Germans and approved by the Japanese, the government would be built along lines of the one operating in Manchoukuo, the report said.

A secret meeting was attended by high Japanese and pro-Nazi Chinese as well as Dr. Walter Fuchs, German diplomat.

Fuchs is head of the Deutschland Institute in Peiping, a supposedly cultural organization. Actually, reports said, Fuchs' institute is spending vast sums of money entertaining political and other important Chinese in the city.

Peiping observers were reported linking the alleged plans for a north China autonomous government with advice from South America that Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, former German consul-general in San Francisco, was en route to China via South America to become consul-general in Tientsin.

Ran Amok

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—A hunger-crazed trapper who came out of the northern British Columbia hills to gorge five pounds of meat and who pulled a knife and terrorized the little settlement of Sinclair Mills when further food was refused, has been committed to the provincial mental hospital by stipendiary magistrate P. J. Morgan.

The man, grey-bearded from long days in the bush and wearing a tattered mackinaw, ran through the settlement brandishing the knife. Provincial police were called from here, but the man was subdued before they made the 60-mile car and railway speeder trip to the settlement. No one was injured. He was brought to Prince George strapped to a stretcher.

Police said the man apparently came out of the hills behind the little settlement of Hansard, 42 miles east of here, and traveled to Sinclair Mills, another little settlement, eight miles farther east.

He entered a camp bunkhouse there and demanded food. After eating five pounds of meat, a loaf of bread, four mugs of coffee and several glasses of milk, he demanded more. When this was refused he grabbed a knife and went on a rampage.

Popular Old Coach Goes to Texas Farm

Sam Eastman sits once more in the driver's seat of the Jubilee hack, prior to bidding it a fond farewell; in the back are his wife, his grandson, Billy Salt, and his daughter, Mrs. M. E. Salt.

Sam Eastman's famous old Jubilee hack, the elegance of which made citizens at the turn of the century stare as it was driven along the muddy or dusty streets, is going to end its days on the rolling roads of a vast Texas estate.

Some weeks ago the Times ran a feature story about the old hacks in Mr. Eastman's basement at 142 St. Lawrence Street. A copy of that issue found its way to Texas and fell into the hands of Clifford Mooers of "Pinelake Farm," near Houston.

"The very thing—just what I need for this place," said Mr. Mooers and immediately started for Victoria for a personal view of the old vehicles.

At first sight of the Jubilee hack Mr. Mooers was more sure than ever that it was the very thing he wanted. He bought it on the spot, along with an old buggy. He returned to Texas and made arrangements for their shipment, sending a Seattle friend, Fred Spargar, to Victoria last week-end to see them safely on Ss. Iroquois, on their way south.

As the hack and buggy were pulled along James Bay streets residents gazed in amazement. If only horses had drawn them the picture would have been perfect. But the best that could be found was a truck.

In Texas Mr. Mooers will use the hack and the buggy for pleasure drives on his estate, which has 50 horses.

The hack was built in London at the time of Queen Victoria's golden jubilee. It started its life on the cobbled streets of Victorian London, made the voyage to Victoria around the horn in a sailing ship and now it is on a railroad car on its way to Texas, after 25 years on the streets of Victoria and 25 years in the Eastman basement.

It needs few repairs; its lamps will shine as brilliantly as ever after they have been washed.

Still in Mr. Eastman's basement are the magnificent hack in which President McKinley rode in Seattle; a sleigh and a doctor's brougham.

2,000 Russians Evacuated By Canadian Soldiers

DESOLATE KINGS BAY on the Norwegian archipelago of Spitsbergen where Canadian troops landed in the Allied raid designed to prevent a Nazi grab of valuable coal mines. (Telephoto).

By ROSS MUNRO

LONDON (CP)—Canadian forces evacuated 2,000 Russian miners from Spitsbergen before blowing up and burning the Nazi-ruled mining properties in three Russian settlements there.

The Russians were removed in a giant liner, one of the vessels which carried the Canadian raiding party from Britain.

Their destination cannot be disclosed yet.

British censorship is gradually relaxing its stiff restrictions and today permitted the story to be told of evacuation of the Russians.

The main evacuation was from the communal town of Barentsburg, jumping-off spot for expeditions to the North Pole, 700 miles away. Most of the miners wanted to join the Russian army to fight the Germans.

BIG ACHIEVEMENT

The mass evacuation was one of the Canadians' biggest achievements of the raid. The entire Russian population was aboard the troopships within 24 hours after the Canadians landed.

I was aboard the largest ship, a big Canadian liner converted into a transport, when the first group of Russians came aboard in the early morning. A destroyer and navy trawlers brought them from two distant communities.

Later I went ashore to watch the Barentsburg evacuation—as fantastic a scene as I ever witnessed.

The Russian commissar at Barentsburg had told the miners the night before the Canadians were removing them from Spitsbergen with approval of the Russian government and when I climbed on the dock the whole population of the town of 1,400 seemed to be down on the small jetty piling up their baggage in great confused heaps.

From wooden shacks and buildings the Russians streamed downhill to the dock. Women with shawls around their heads balanced huge trunks on their shoulders. Even children carried bundles.

Harassed Canadian officers, their nerves strained by a sleepless night and the baffling problem of being unable to speak Russian, used signs to direct activities. Canadian soldiers of Russian extraction came to aid the only official interpreter with the Canadian officers.

There was no resentment among the miners. They seemed pleased to be able to leave Barentsburg, a drab, untidy town where life could have been nothing else but dull.

The miners wore their working clothes of blue padded jackets and trousers. Others were clad in Sunday best—black suits, black caps and long topcoats.

Older women wore shawls, but the younger ones had coats and dresses recently brought from Moscow. There wasn't a silk stocking in the crowd. All wore cotton hose. Several of the women carried babies.

Canadian and British soldiers formed a human chain to heave baggage aboard the destroyer. For half a dozen trips to the troopship anchored in the fjord the small warship was jammed to the gunwales with Russians and their luggage.

The wardroom was filled with women. Babies crawled around and played on the wardroom table.

The skipper of the destroyer, who has taken his ship through some of the fiercest naval engagements of the war, looked over the vessel, turned to me, and said: "Good Lord, I'm in the ferry business now. I wonder what they'll be using destroyers for next."

Some of the Russians carried large framed pictures of Stalin and Lenin, chess sets, balalaikas and violins were included among prized possessions.

Small detachments of Alberta and Saskatchewan regiments accompanied the Russians to their destination. The flotilla returned later to Spitsbergen.

Churchill Defends Moore-Brabazon

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill strongly defended his minister of aircraft production, Lt.-Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, in the House of Commons today against charges of insincerity in the matter of aid to Russia.

Far from wishing that the German and Russian armies would annihilate each other, as charged, Mr. Churchill told the house the minister "has been ardently at work sending hundreds of fighter aircraft to Russia, many of which have already got there."

He said the annihilation remark attributed to the minister had been distorted and he had absolute faith Col. Moore-Brabazon is "with us heart and soul" in the policy of all possible aid for Russia.

"Otherwise I would not have appointed him," he said.

William Gallagher, only Communist member of the house, raised the matter during question hour and in a fiery outburst called the prime minister a "blackguard" and accused him of "dirty, cowardly, rotten action," but subsequently apologized and withdrew the remarks.

The Communist first told the house "very deep and bitter feeling exists among trade unionists" over statements attributed to Moore-Brabazon.

He asked Mr. Churchill to "clear out of this government anyone who is not 100 per cent for co-operation with Russia."

The prime minister replied to this:

"I do not think I should be prepared to receive guidance in policy or conduct from an honorable gentleman who, it is notorious, has to change his opinions whenever he is ordered to by a body outside this country."

Mr. Gallagher retorted "I have never at any time taken orders from anyone outside this country," and he demanded withdrawal of the "insulting remark."

"It is a dirty, cowardly, rotten action on the part of the prime minister," he said. "It is the action of a blackguard. It is a foul and dirty lie."

The exchange, which thus brought the harshest words leveled at Mr. Churchill since he became Prime Minister, was the aftermath of an accusation against Col. Moore-Brabazon in a speech by Jack Tanner, president of the Amalgamated Engineers Union, to the Trades Union Congress at Edinburgh September 2.

Mr. Gallagher opened with a question whether the statements attributed to Col. Moore-Brabazon, namely that the minister had publicly expressed a wish for the extermination of both the Russian and German armies, represented the government's policy.

Mr. Churchill answered that the versions given the public of Col. Moore-Brabazon's remarks at a private gathering "bear a construction which represents neither the policy of His Majesty's Government nor the views of the minister."

Mr. Churchill said he telephoned Col. Moore-Brabazon the day Germany attacked Russia and told him "the line I was going to take that night" in his world-wide broadcast pledging aid to the Soviet Union.

"The aircraft production minister 'wholeheartedly supported' that line and he expressed enthusiastic assent," Mr. Churchill added.

Mr. Churchill said he had read correspondence relating to the accusation against Col. Moore-Brabazon and was "astonished that anyone could have taken the mischievous action of making this a sensation which does nothing but harm to Russia as well as Britain and leads to suspicion between those whose fortunes are linked together."

Mr. Gallagher's demands for withdrawal of the Prime Minister's remark were interrupted by the Speaker's call for the next question, whereupon the House went on with other business.

The Speaker, Capt. Edward Fitzroy, requested the press gallery not to use the story on the outburst, but the request came long after London evening newspapers had published their accounts.

In his apology, addressed to the Speaker, Mr. Gallagher said: "After deep reflection about what occurred this morning I want to apologize to you, sir, and to the House for the offensive words I used when I put to you my point of order, and I want to make a complete withdrawal of the offensive remarks made and directed towards the Prime Minister."

The House cheered.

Australians Would Fight in Russia

MELBOURNE (AP) — Dr. Lewis Windermer Nott, superintendent of the Canberra government hospital, says 4,000 Australians want to fight in Russia.

He said he had submitted a proposal for formation of an Australian foreign legion to Army Minister P. S. Spender, after receiving a flood of letters from men desiring to fight on the Russian front.

Dr. Nott, veteran of the first Great War in which he served with the Royal Scots, is now instructing an Australian medical regiment for service in Russia.

Hitler's Armies Now Face Fogs, Rains, Snows of Russia

By CARL C. CRANMER
 NEW YORK (AP)—Through a critical summer—for 12 weeks—the Russians have stood off the Germans. Barring a sudden collapse of Soviet defences, Hitler's armies which he has trained for blitzkrieg are fated to endure the fogs, rains, snows and gales of a six-to-nine-month Russian winter.

The war dispatches made it clear that winter already is setting in. Steady, pouring rains and fog are reported from the northern front about Leningrad and Smolensk, southwest of Moscow. A German army reporter speaks of "bottomless mud" about Leningrad.

WINTER COMING

These are the autumn rains which will extend to the Ukraine and be succeeded by the long, severe winter.

In the winter war of 1939-40, the Finns and Russians fought in 40-below-zero temperatures north of Leningrad. Extreme cold, however, extends far south to all Russia except the Crimea, a narrow strip north of the Black Sea and parts of the Caucasus.

By the end of November Leningrad to the north is closed in by ice, and stays that way until May, sometime June.

FUR COATS

Much will depend upon who is best prepared for the weather. Fragmentary reports indicate the Germans are preparing millions of fur coats for these soldiers, ordering skis to give them mobility, buying horses to substitute wagons and sleighs for their motor supply columns.

One advantage the Soviets may have—the advantage of positions and trenches already prepared, and warm, largely undisturbed towns, cities and farm houses behind them.

You can still buy your fur coat at August Fur Sale prices at Foster's.

Worries For Hitler

German Soldiers Despair, Have Growing Fear of Reds

By LOUIS V. HUNTER

LONDON (CP)—A significant lowering of morale among German soldiers, caused by disillusion about the length of the war, family losses in air raids and growing fear of Russia, is reported in a letter received by the Free French authorities in London.

The Free French here, who are in close touch with events in occupied France, said the writer was able to move freely among German troops and talk to those with first-hand knowledge of conditions in Germany.

The most striking changes noticed in the German army of occupation were:

USE OLDER MEN

Relief of garrisons by considerably older men, some white-haired veterans of the first Great War; general dismay among the relieved troops at the thought of fighting the Russians; outbreak of drunkenness in the army of occupation; frequent mention in

"passionate discussions" between German soldiers of the names of Hess and Stalin.

"I told you at the end of April of the great movement of troops which I noticed," the letter said. "These were in reality the relief of troops garrisoned in occupied France, and their transfer to other theatres of operation."

"The relieved troops were astounded. They had been led to believe they would remain in occupation until the end of the war, and they had been enjoying comforts they had not known for a long time."

"In many places there were individual scenes of despair, which speaks volumes for the ease with which, in spite of appearances, the German soldier can be demoralized. This is all the more remarkable, as there was then no question of a war against Russia, which the Germans feared above all."

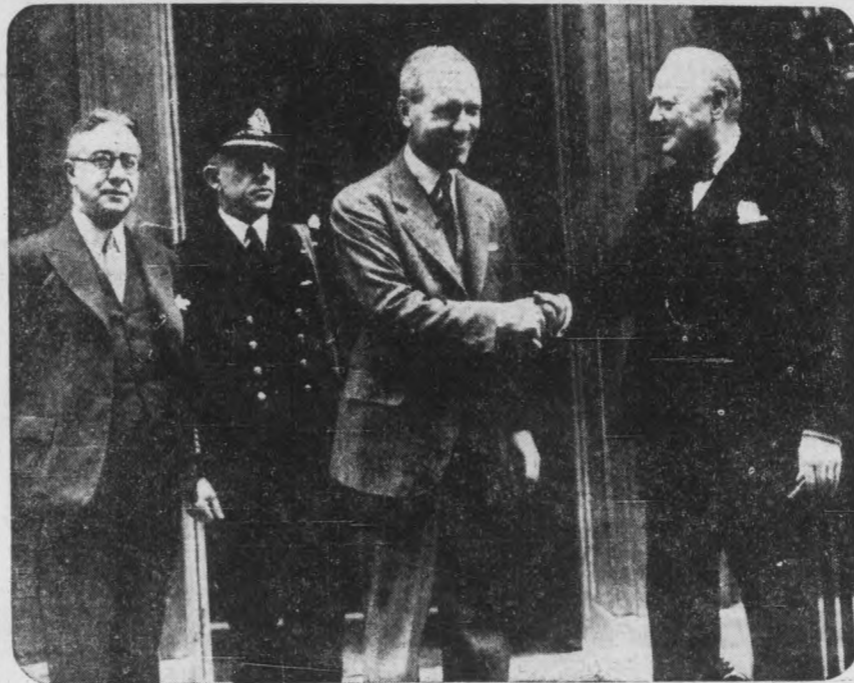

The letter said the French had not been slow to notice that when the German soldier was alone that he let himself go easily, revealing confidences and exposing grievances.

"Thus one hears that lassitude is beginning to fill the soul of the German people. They had been allowed to hope that the time would soon come when they would have butter instead of guns, yet the war goes on and they can see no end to it."

"Bombing raids make a terrible impression on the people of Germany, and this has its reaction on the troops. Soldiers often receive letters announcing the death of one of their family from bombing. They then begin to curse the war and to demand that it should be brought to an end by whatever means."

"It is particularly interesting to notice how much the Germans seem to fear Russia. They seem even more afraid of Russia than of America, perhaps because such information as the troops possess about the United States is dishied out in such a way as not to disturb them. "The Italians are still profoundly despised."

'Hitler Would Use Poison Gases'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Major-Gen. William N. Porter, chief of the U.S. chemical warfare service, predicted last night the present European war "will never be really 'all out' until poison gases once more flood the battlefields."

In a speech prepared for the American Chemical Society's annual banquet, Gen. Porter said: "Whether or not gas warfare will be used, depends solely on whether Hitler's generals feel that the advantage to them would surely outweigh any disadvantages."

"Up until now they have not felt so, and I think rightly, since gas is primarily a defensive weapon and would have been of much more value to the retreating Russians than to the advancing Germans. Hitler understands well mustard gas on British beaches would add materially to the precariousness of an invasion."

"But should he believe that one gigantic stroke with gas would win the war for him, I am convinced he would use it without question. Treaties signed and sealed have not restrained dictators from any course of action suited to their purpose."

Gen. Porter observed Italy did not hesitate to use mustard gas "on the unprotected Ethiopians" to bring the first Abyssinian campaign to a sudden end, and added: "You can be certain that neither Hitler nor Mussolini have forgotten this."

"Wars are not won by gas masks or other defensive material," concluded Gen. Porter. "To overcome the enemy we must take the offensive."

"I believe the word 'defence' has actually hindered our military preparations. If we are to carry out the declared purpose of our commander-in-chief (President Roosevelt) and crush Hitlerism, no amount of defensive preparations can do the job."

POLITICS

MILLER CHOSEN

Alderman George C. Miller, former Vancouver mayor, and Don C. Brown were named at a Conservative nominating convention here in Vancouver last night to contest Vancouver-Burrard riding in the forthcoming provincial general election.

H. J. Forester and Mrs. H. D. Smith, both Liberals, represented the riding in the last provincial Legislature.

MRS. JAMIESON NAMED

Mrs. Laura Jamieson, C.C.F. member of the last provincial Legislature for Vancouver-Centre, and W. W. Lefaux were chosen at a C.C.F. nominating convention last night to contest the riding.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, Liberal, was the other representative for the two-seat riding in the last provincial Legislature.

Victoria Flier Presumed Dead

LONDON (CP)—Pilot Officer John Blandford Latta of Victoria, B.C., awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross last November for shooting down eight German planes in operations over France and Britain, was presumed killed in action last night in the R.A.F.'s 79th casualty list.

The list included the name of Pilot Officer H. P. Duval, who had previously been reported missing and now is known to be safe. P.O. Duval's mother lives at St. John's, Que.

Following is the list of Canadians:

Missing, believed killed in action—Flt.-Lieut. E. W. Young, Toronto.

Missing—Acting Flt.-Lieut. T. F. Kerr, Mountroyal, Quebec; Sgt. W. A. McGinley, born in Ontario; mother lives in England.

Killed on active service—Flt. Lieut. K. F. Arnold, D.F.C., born in Canada, wife lives in England; Sgt. G. A. Crompton, born in Alberta, father lives in England; P.O. C. F. Sutcliffe, Georgetown, Ont.

Died on active service—Cpl. L. D. W. Miller, born in Toronto, father lives in England.

P.O. Latta was awarded the D.F.C. November 5, 1940. The citation said he "displayed great coolness in the midst of fierce combat."

"Once," the citation added, "when his squadron attacked a number of Messerschmitt 109s, he shot down one of them and, although his own aircraft was hit in the wings and tail by cannon

Reconsecration Week

UNTIL MIDNIGHT NEXT WEDNESDAY, Canadians are asked to search their hearts in an effort to discover what additional contribution it is possible for them to make toward the cause to which this Dominion and the rest of the countries that compose the British Empire are irrevocably and willingly committed. The period allotted to this intimate introspective examination goes by the appropriate name of "Reconsecration Week."

To the great majority of the people who are proud to call themselves Canadians, who understand the nature of the task which confronts them and all the decent folk of the world, the mental exercise inaugurated officially by Mr. Mackenzie King yesterday may appear unnecessary on first thoughts. They may say to themselves they are sure of their ground, that they are ready and willing to endure all the sacrifices that will be necessary until the "final destruction of the Nazi tyranny," and that they will see to it that this part of the Commonwealth discharges its duty to the full. But, as Mr. Lapointe implied in his official opening address, it is not enough to honor the men in uniform and pledge anew our hearts, our minds and all our strength to the cause of freedom; the obligation inherent in our reconsecration is a determination to keep our hearts and minds whole, and their strength unbroken, no matter what befalls. The words with which the Minister of Justice concluded his remarks are worth special emphasis:

"If the conflict, which creeps every day closer to our own hearths, if the sense of danger which threatens your country and your loved ones, has not yet impressed itself upon your hearts, allow me humbly to recall to you the imperishable right to win for your country a glorious destiny, and for yourselves that pride of soul which will carry you erect and unshamed along the highways and byways of life."

Mr. Lapointe sounds a note in those words which all Canadians will observe with the solemnity which the circumstances of the times demand. It is especially fortunate that they should be uttered by one who has contributed so much to the spirit of unity which animates the people of this Dominion—a common understanding and firm resolve whose alchemy should produce the maximum results that "Reconsecration Week" sets out to achieve. For there is not a Canadian who fails to understand what the tyrant has in store for an Axis-dominated world. But killing Hitler "with our mouths," or cheering Britain "with our hearts" is not enough. The whole philosophy of the man who plunged peace-loving peoples into this horrible war must be crushed and every trace of it removed if the dignity of the human soul is to be restored to its rightful place among all men. Canadians will not be found wanting; they have been officially at war with the Nazi hierarchy for two years; and it may be fitting to dip into history and recall what Sir Wilfrid Laurier said on August 20, 1914, when he so ably supported Sir Robert Borden's declaration to the Parliament at Ottawa on that memorable occasion:

"It is our duty, more pressing on us than all other duties, at once, on this first day of debate in a Canadian Parliament to let Great Britain know, to let the friends and foes of Great Britain know, that there is in Canada one mind and one heart, and that all Canadians stand behind the Mother Country, conscious and proud that she did not engage in a war from any selfish motive . . . but to maintain untarnished the honor of her name."

Therefore, two years after Canada, for the first time, exercised her rights and privileges as an independent nation to declare herself a belligerent, Canadians in all walks of life can subscribe with heart and soul to the high purpose reflected in the sentiments expressed by a great Canadian statesman 27 years ago.

Oil Running Low?

ACCORDING TO THE LATEST INFORMATION made public by the Petroleum Press Bureau, Germany is using oil fuel on the Russian front alone at the rate of 300,000 tons a month. This is based on the assumption that the Nazi high command is employing at least 15 armored, 20 motorized and 150 ordinary infantry divisions—a calculation which rather underestimates than overestimates the strength of the German invading forces—plus at least 4,000 operational planes of all types.

After an analysis of this computation, experts have reached the conclusion that for the first time since September, 1939, Germany's oil situation is now rapidly deteriorating—which suggests to them that unless the campaign against the Soviet Union is brought to a swift and decisive conclusion, the possibility of a collapse before many months have passed must not be ruled out as mere wishful thinking. Before June 22, the Reich had available between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 tons annually for military purposes; but about 1,000,000 tons of this total had been obtained from Russia, so that at present the enemy is operating on a margin of less than 3,000,000 tons for all his military needs.

These figures do not take into account any oil reserves that still may exist, or the damage done to stocks by raids of the Royal Air Force; in any event, the former must be diminishing, and the latter increasing. And although the enemy is making strenuous efforts to develop additional synthetic production in less vulnerable areas, such a process must naturally be slow. However, if Hitler should manage to bring his eastern campaign to an end—his prospects as this is written are far from rosy—and gains the resources of the Caucasus, what is now obviously a dangerous position for him would be substantially changed.

To complete that part of the program which would put the Nazi war machine in touch with the Soviet Union's great oil fields, incidentally, Hitler would have to make up his mind to still further colossal losses in men and material. Britain's intervention in Iraq and Syria, and more recently British and Russian action in Iran, has improved the strategic position of the Allies to such an extent that Nazi military leaders may well pause before embarking either on operations against Turkey or across the Black Sea to Batum. Ogleasa is still in Russian hands and the overland journey through the southeastern Ukraine from that point to the shores of the Caspian is a hazardous one of nearly a thousand miles!

Civilian Preparedness

A "REALISTIC" DISPLAY OF A.R.P. work was promised at the Oak Bay High School Park last night. It turned out to be spectacular, with bombs exploding, a bomber from Patricia Bay diving overhead, clouds of gas, and a burning building. All who saw it went away with a new appreciation of the importance of the training the local A.R.P. squads have been undergoing during the last year. All witnesses of the demonstration were also moved to admiration of the efficiency displayed by the fire squads and by the Provincial Police unit under Inspector Moodie. We hope we do not have to face bombs from enemy planes in this province. But in case they should come our way we shall not be unprepared on the civilian front, thanks to the organization that has been effected under Attorney-General Wismer.

Sealing His Fate

IF ADOLF HITLER AND HIS GANG OF cut-throats in Berlin had tried to discover a more practical method for closing still tighter the ranks of the workers of all free countries, they could not have improved upon the order issued for the shooting of two of Norway's prominent labor leaders. And if the Nazi chief really desired to borrow still more trouble for himself from the workers in all the occupied countries, the two executions in the gallant Scandinavian state should serve that purpose well.

It has become an outworn cliché that the Prussian never did and never will understand the real meaning of freedom in its normal sense. The late Kaiser failed woefully to read the democratic mind; his imitator from Austria has tried to support his bid for world domination by sadistic propensities which make Prussian policy of 27 years ago look tragically amateurish. What does Hitler suppose the workers of Norway will do in the factories, in the fields, or anywhere where labor is "extracted" by brutal compulsion, when the full import of these latest assassinations sinks in?

Norwegians may go through the motions of serving their taskmasters to escape summary punishment. The workers of the other occupied countries may follow a similar rule. But Hitler must know, unless he has lost all reason, that ways and means will be found to make the life of Nazi officials and Nazi troops a veritable hell on earth. Not all the grandiose promises of the Berlin oligarchy will fool indefinitely men under the banner of the swastika continually exposed to the wrath of peoples to whom even elementary freedom is denied.

MONEY COSTS TOO HIGH IN CANADA From Fundy Fisherman (Saint John)

The benefits conferred upon the people of the U.S.A. were once more shown in a deal in finance carried out by the state of New Hampshire recently. It had occasion to raise a loan of considerable proportions and the money was secured in a serialized, comparatively short-term loan, at a rate of .875 per cent or 7/8 of 1 per cent.

This represents approximately the real cost of issuing credit and is quite a contrast to the 4 per cent paid on loans by our province, all too often. This is not the fault of the province, nor was it altogether the astuteness of New Hampshire politicians that they were able to finance so advantageously. In both countries the federal government holds control over the financial policies of the nation.

We have advocated, loudly and long, that the state should resume its sovereign control over all money, including credit. Quotations could be made to show that the principle was agreed to by many of our leading statesmen. It is in the application of this principle as to the control of credit that our country lags.

Bruce Hutchison

TWO YEARS

CANADA HAS NOW BEEN AT WAR officially for two years. To say that they have been the most critical two years of our history is commonplace. But what have they actually done to the country? No one will know for some time yet, perhaps for 20 years or so, but it is clear that much more has happened to us than the public has begun to suspect.

Deep in the minds of most of us is a secret belief that somehow when the war is over we shall return to the life we knew before the war. We may wag our heads solemnly and say, like parrots, that of course things will never be the same, but we make a mental reservation. We plan our own lives in the expectation that the great historic changes, dimly seen on all sides, will not affect us much personally. Men's minds are full even today of plans to buy new cars, or build new houses, or acquire new farms, boats, fishing rods and other things when the war is over.

Probably it is impossible for the human mind to foresee a new state of society, just as it cannot understand anything of importance in the universe about it, and must make up for this lack of understanding by a mighty concentration on the trifles of modern science. We cannot expect, therefore, to know what has happened in Canada in the last two years or what it will mean to us, but we ought to be able to see now that the whole basis of Canadian life has been shaken, cracked and reshaped. Every day the reshaping process goes on at an extraordinary rate so that the shape of it a year hence, or five years hence, is anyone's guess. No one will guess right.

THE REVOLUTION

BUT A FEW THINGS are becoming clearer. The two years have revolutionized Canadian industry. They have industrialized the nation, taught it to make things that it never dreamed of making before the war, reared up huge new factories and shifted large populations from one part of the country to the other. The net result of this is to create a vast new vested interest in industry, to make more and more Canadians dependent on industrial processes and less dependent on raw productive processes. We are, in fact, building up a large new class of skilled workers called by the sociologists a proletariat. You can tear down a factory or even a town. But you cannot tear down a proletariat, for it is built in men's minds and attitudes and in their demands and their power. That is the biggest permanent result of two years in this war.

Another result also becomes clear. We have managed in this war to perform something like a miracle in Canada. For all our blundering, we have rebuilt the productive machinery of the nation in 24 months. We have not done it by the old methods of private competition and initiative. We have done it through the state, with the co-operation of private ownership. The program has been directed by the government and would have been impossible except through the combined power of the people acting through the government. Willy-nilly we have been forced into what is called planning.

THEY WILL REMAIN

DOES ANYONE think that this entire experiment will end with the war? That all the planning devices, controls and regulations will be instantly repealed when we head into the problems of the peace, which are more complicated than the problems of the war? A good deal of this new creation will remain, will be salvaged with permanent effects on our living habits. Some of the new taxes will remain also.

Yet the thing long expected by the socialists has not occurred. We have not gone in for socialism. Despite the desperate pressure of these two years, private initiative in large degree and private ownership almost entirely, have remained. They are tougher than many reformers thought. The people cling to them in a fashion to discourage the socialist.

The end of the two years finds us with private ownership submitting to all kinds of regulations but remaining still private ownership. Where it is not safe to conclude anything yet, we can perhaps guess that we are witnessing not as many expected, the emergence of an entirely new and streamlined system, all set down in black and white, but just another compromise, another absurd make-shift, which is the nature of all human systems, another method of doing things which is not logical, which follows no theory completely but somehow is made to work.

Nevertheless, it means great changes. It means that we have traveled farther in two years than in the previous 20 or 40 and we cannot go back. That we have gone so far without a complete revolution and upset will disappoint a few people, for we have failed to accept any of the inevitable and desperate alternatives promulgated by the various prophets of reform. We have just done what we had to do day by day.

It is not a spectacular method. It is not a rapid method, but it is the method our race has always followed, the method of moving forward while pretending to stand still. This time we have moved forward so fast at one leap that even we cannot pretend that we are standing still.

Parallel Thought

God judgeth the righteous, and God is angry with the wicked every day.—Psalms 7:11.

Just are the ways of God, and justifiable to men; unless there be those who think not God at all.—Milton.

Elmore Philpott

THE FARMER LAST

One of the most striking internal effects of World War I was the rise of a whole crop of militant farmers' political movements. The basic cause of these uprisings was, of course, the general belief of farmers everywhere in Canada that they were receiving a dirty deal as compared with the treatment given to other sections of the population.

In a nutshell, they were indignant because the price of what they had to sell was held down by decree. There were no such limits on the prices of what they had to buy.

So Canada saw the rise of political farm movements which captured two provincial governments, and came close to sweeping the boards in half the national arena.

There is as yet no indication that Canadian farmers will express their resentment at the trend of affairs in precisely the same way in this war period as they did in the other one. But there is an overwhelming and steadily increasing amount of evidence to indicate that the resentment is there—and that there is a hard core of reason for it being there.

Thus I read in one typical Canadian paper which serves a large farm community this verbatim statement by a farm woman:

"After the last war they came to the kitchen door for handouts but seldom for work. After this war they need not come, for they will be refused. The factory workers with their bonuses and shorter hours and higher pay had better save their money, for farmers are in a bitter mood. Farmers have to save or starve."

HARDEST HIT

The farmer is certainly hardest hit in the upsets caused by war. The Minister of Trade and Commerce has issued figures as follows:

"Farm family living costs have advanced between the spring index figure of 1939 and that of 1941 from 99.7 to 112.9, or 13.2 per cent. Also for the same period urban costs rose only 7.7 per cent. But there has been an increase in farm income during the same period from 65.5 to 69.5, or about 6 per cent."

All of which would indicate that the average Canadian farm family is relatively 7.2 per cent worse off now than it was before the war began. Yet the farmer has done a truly magnificent job in producing food. He has not only met every single quota set for him by the government—although some of the quotas seemed so high when they were set that many experts doubted that they could be filled, but in some cases—such as that of hog production—there was such temporary over-supply that prices hit the toboggan—and the farmer was actually penalized at home for responding so ably to the call to help feed Britain.

WELL—WHY NOT?

Canada goes into the new wheat year with an all-time record carry-over of just under 500,000,000 bushels. Canada is now harvesting a fine fruit crop—now cut off from its customary market. Thus, on one side, agriculture is shocked by choking of markets. On the other side, the urge is for ever higher production—and in a hurry. The bacon agreement which expires on September 15 called for 425,000,000 pounds of such exports in the passing year, and is expected to be pushed up to 600,000,000 pounds for the next 12 months. The essence of these agreements is that production is for a fixed price. Yet the farmers' prices in the buying markets are not fixed.

Nobody has yet explained—in any way that I can understand—why the farmer should be the perpetual goat, and why he should not only be denied his own cost of living bonus but actually have his own plight made worse every time such bonuses are granted to any other part of the population.

There are obvious difficulties in the way of granting such bonuses where production is for local consumption and where prices are subject to law of supply and demand. But there are no such obvious difficulties in regard to bonuses on production for war export—where lies the chief grievance now.

EVEN STEEL CABINETS

TOPPLE From Ottawa Citizen

Stacks of steel cabinets toppled over in the badminton court of the Rideau Winter Club. The cabinets were filled with national registration cards. They were stacked up in rows over floor space of more than 100x75 feet. Happily none of the 75 girls at work on the registration cards suffered injury from the collapse of the cabinets, but one man had to be taken to hospital after being pinned under a large cabinet as it toppled over.

There is doubtless some value in this work on the stacks of cards. They relate to last year's national registration. They have no relation to this year's new accumulation of census cards. More clerks and cabinets are needed for the census collected by an army of 70,000.

Some Canadian people would incline to the opinion that they could be more productively employed and the steel cabinets would be more useful made over into steel helmets. What happened to the stacks of Mr. Gardiner's cards does go to show, however, that cabinets can topple. Even party cabinets cannot go on forever. The political cards in ministerial offices are probably better stacked than the registration cards.

TRIBUTE TO WASHING MACHINES

From Ottawa Citizen

In a recent letter to the New York Times a Chicago writer—a man, too—makes a protest against the inclusion by the United States of washing machines in the "luxury" class to be cut down in favor of essential war production. He speaks of this modern invention as the greatest of all the blessings which have come to women in the past 50 years.

Busy Canadian housewives will appreciate this masculine support and recognition of the beneficence of the washing machine, since it is presumably also destined in Canada to a low place in the priorities list. But many of the modern washing machines are made of aluminum.

Sacrifice of the usable aluminum washing machine will hardly be expected, however, along with the old aluminum pots and pans in the Red Cross drive now in progress. It will be all the more of a boon in the coming days when war demands fall still more heavily on Canadian women in and out of the home.

Navigation Class At Night School

With the war bringing the subject of navigation into greater prominence than in normal times, value of classes in this subject at the Victoria Night School, opening October 1, is being stressed by the Victoria School Board.

The classes provide an opportunity for men of the navy and the air force, or those who contemplate joining these services, to study branches of their work which should help them in securing promotion. Men studying for, or now in, the merchant service, may also benefit by the instruction to be obtained in the classes.

Yachtsmen and others have also shown interest in the course since it was first announced, and indications are there will be a heavy registration.

Donald B. M. Cantell, graduate of H.M.S. Conway, naval officer in the last war, who has since sailed the world in the merchant service, particularly to the Arctic and the tropics, has been secured as instructor. He was for several years in the B.C. coast service. He created an impression as a lecturer for his lucid explanation of navigation problems during the series at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club last year.

VICHY RESTRICTIONS

VICHY (AP)—The Petain government has announced that some state employees had been dismissed for black market operations to supply extra food to communal restaurants run for their own benefit. The announcement linked the action with the recent closing of large Vichy restaurants and an important butcher shop which supplied it with meat.

GENEVA, Switzerland (CP)—More than 750,000 food parcels for British prisoners of war are stored at headquarters of the International Red Cross. They form a giant reserve which insures that prisoners will receive a parcel each week if transportation difficulties arise between Britain and Geneva.

B.C. Trustee Program Set

Delegates to the British Columbia School Trustees' Association, meeting in annual convention in Nanaimo on September 22, 23 and 24, will cover a wide range of educational subjects, running from the Teachers' Pension Act to country boys who "play hockey" in their last year.

The program for the convention, over which Alderman P. E. George, Victoria, will preside as head of the association, contains 14 resolutions and another four notices of motion.

Hornby Island submits the resolution covering students turning 15 during any school year who, knowing they may leave as soon as they have achieved that age, tend to be less industrious and therefore are a handicap to the teacher and a drawback to other pupils. It asks that the Schools Act be amended to compel pupils turning 15 years during any school year to attend school until the end of that year.

Another from Shuswap Lake asks consideration of the difficulties encountered by the rural school teacher in trying to do justice to the multiplicity of subjects listed in the new grade school curriculum.

The same branch asks relief from the heavy burden of school taxes on lands and improvements.

TEACHERS IN SERVICE

Three resolutions cover appointment of temporary teachers to replace those on leave of absence for war activity. One would make temporary appointments last for the duration, another would end such appointments on the return of the permanent teacher, and a third would have the government assume payment of his service pension for the period of his service.

Another Shuswap resolution urges the government to assume increased pension costs from general revenue.

Silver Creek suggests teachers receive an adequate salary and the government should not have to assume the expense of a 7 per cent payment to the superannuation fund.

Kamloops objects to compulsory payments for unemployment insurance for school janitors who could, it claims, derive no benefits from the scheme.

A half dozen constitutional changes are also sought in notices of motions and other resolutions.

The convention will be held in the Eagles Home, Bastion Street, and will be preceded by a full executive meeting on Sunday, September 21 at 2.30.

BUSY PROGRAM

In addition to addresses by the president, Alderman George and by Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, the convention will hear a large number of reports, including those of the representative on the board of reference, the representative on the Teachers' Pension Act and the representative on Bible reading.

A question period and discussion on school and public health nurse work will be led by Dr. G. F. Amyot, provincial health officer.

A banquet will be tendered visitors by the Nanaimo School Board on Tuesday evening, September 23, following an afternoon of sightseeing.

FIRST C.W.A.C. QUOTAS FILLED

Mrs. Norman Kennedy, Canadian Women's Army Corps staff officer for M.D. No. 11, arrived here yesterday from Vancouver, where she interviewed volunteers from the Women's Training Corps, Women's Ambulance Corps, ex-service branch of the Canadian Legion and individuals.

The quota of 15 for Vancouver was filled and recruits are being advised by mail today to report to their own doctors for medical examination. When results of the medical examinations are received, Mrs. Kennedy will return to Vancouver to enlist the volunteers for a probationary period of three months.

Interviews in Victoria have been completed, and the recruits chosen will be advised by mail. Enlistment of these volunteers will start Thursday morning. Volunteers were chosen in Victoria from the Canadian Women's Red Cross Corps, the B.C. Women's Ambulance Corps and the Victoria Women's Ambulance Corps.

Preference is given to recruits from volunteer corps because of their previous training. Every consideration, however, will be given to applications from individual volunteers to fill future quotas in the C.W.A.C.

Distinguished Women Are Attending Convention

Ordinary lives are extraordinary to members of the P.E.O. Sisterhood, convening at the Empress Hotel this week. A well known name in "Who's Who in America" for the last 14 years, is Mrs. Winona Evans Reeves, former international president of P.E.O. and editor for the last 23 years of the P.E.O. Record, official monthly publication of that organization with a circulation of 70,000. Mrs. Reeves has been a member of the sisterhood for 53 years. A journalist of note, she has authored four books, two of them Blue Books on women in her home state, Iowa, and Nebraska, and two on history of the P.E.O. Sisterhood.

Vice-president of the U.S. National Federation of Press Women in 1938-1941, Mrs. Reeves, the year previous, had the distinction of being the only woman from America elected to the International Week in Budapest, a congress of prominent women throughout the world organized to promote peace through friendship. She was chosen vice-president and the following year journeyed to Paris for the annual meet, which was subsequently canceled by threat of war and has not met since. Mrs. Reeves lives in Chicago, spends her time lecturing and writing newspaper and magazine articles.

"I still love to push a pen," chuckles Mrs. Reeves, now 70, white-haired and patrician looking. "I got my start on a small Iowa paper in the last war when men were scarce and I did all the 'leg work,' covering everything from the social news to obituaries."

IN THEATRICAL WORLD

Prominent in the theatrical world is Miss Esther Belle Wheeler, vice-president of her chapter in Marcellina, Missouri, who says she loves conventions, follows them like a fire hose following a fire bell. A diseuse, Miss Wheeler has given costume recitals and dramatic readings to women's clubs throughout the United States for the last 12 years, visited Victoria in 1928 with Walter Whiteside's New York company, playing in "The Hindu" and "Sakura," under her stage name Esther Belle. She made her debut in Paris in 1921 with M. Gernier au theatre Montague, and has played with such stars as Glenn Hunter, Glenn Anders and Claude Rains. Monday evening she gave a dramatic reading of W. S. Gilbert's "Comedy and Tragedy" to P.E.O. members on the Princess Victoria.

Active for her advanced years is Mrs. Mary Perry Price Johnson, first president of the organization's Supreme Chapter in 1884. "It's exciting to see what a tremendous club P.E.O. has developed into from a tiny nucleus," she says. "I started with seven girls at Mount Pleasant College in 1882 deciding to perpetuate their friendship after school days. They interested other groups in the neighborhood, of which I was one, and we decided to amalgamate the various groups in 1883. Today there are 70,000 members."

Mrs. Johnson explained the meaning of the sisterhood's insignia the five-cornered star, which stands for love, purity, justice, truth and faith. "This organization has grown on those principles alone. It's a growth from within, not from without, and that's what makes it strong. We follow the principles Christ taught his disciples."

The sisterhood's two main projects are a scholarship fund, now almost $1,000,000, to be loaned to young girls seeking an education, and the maintenance of a junior college in Nevada, Mo., explained Mrs. Johnson. In regard to the war, she felt that, although the organization isn't undertaking any war aid as a unit, individual members were bending every effort to further local war enterprises.

Mrs. Vina Ives Bowden of Brookfield, Missouri, past president of the Supreme Chapter, feels that "the crowning event" in her life was the convocation of the British Columbia chapter during her incumbency. This was the first chapter installed in Canada, making the Sisterhood an international organization. The event took place in 1925. "I was so pleased I planned the installation on my birthday, June 19. I've been in British Columbia several times since then and just adore it," Mrs. Bowden was state organizer for Missouri for two terms, before becoming state president in 1911-1913.

President of Cottey Junior College in Nevada, Mo., which is financed by the P.E.O. Sisterhood, Miss Marjorie Mitchell was for three years Dean of Women at the University of Akron, Ohio, having received her B.A. at Western Reserve College at Cleveland and her M.A. at Radcliffe College. She was preparing her final thesis for a Doctor of Education degree at Columbia University. New York, last year when fire swept her quarters at Cottey College, destroying her manuscripts. "Cottey Junior College is named after Virginia Alice Cottey Stockard, founder of the institution in 1884," Miss Mitchell explains. "In 1927 Miss Stockard retired, turning the entire establishment over to the Sisterhood. We have instituted a new method of housing girls, putting them in groups of 10 around a central living-room so that they have the congeniality of family life. We only accommodate 160 girls, from nearly half the States in the Union, 63 per cent of them being daughters of P.E.O. Sisters. We are fortunate in having one teacher for every eight students, bringing our scholastic standing very high. It costs a student only $800 a year, because the school is subsidized, the P.E.O. paying $63,000 a year for the last three years for its maintenance."

Making Hawaii's representation complete are two presidents of Honolulu chapters, Mrs. Mabel E. McCleery and Mrs. M. B. Hopwood, and official delegate Miss Mabel Fraser. Mrs. McCleery is supervisor of probationary training at the University of Hawaii and in July of this year was the official representative of that institution at the World Conference of Educators of America in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

FEEL IMMINENCE OF WAR

"People in Hawaii are conscious of the imminence of war, being in the middle of the Pacific and closer to it than people in the United States," Mrs. McCleery says. "But we are prepared for it and feel secure. Honolulu has changed utterly. It's an armed garrison, teeming with laborers and skilled workers and men in uniform. In the last year 22,000 people employed in defence projects have come to Hawaii, 8,000 of them arriving from California in the last six months."

"But we feel we'd like to do all we can to help, without bringing our boys into it," Mrs. Hopwood explained, adding that her son was a captain in the U.S. Air Corps. Her husband, Dr. John Hopwood, is director of the Mid-Pacific Institute, a private high school in Honolulu.

Miss Mabel Fraser, recording secretary for P.E.O. Chapter "B" in Honolulu, has been librarian for the last 20 years for the Honolulu Sugar Planters Association Scientific Library, and was born on Bainbridge Island, Wash., graduating from the University of Washington.

Cousin of Mrs. E. J. T. Woodward of Albert Head Road, is Mrs. Cecelia H. Chadbourne, delegate from Kalispell, Montana, who was educated at the University of Chicago and Wellesley College, Mass., being stroke for the varsity rowing team at the latter institution. She is also a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club in the education field and prominent in musical circles in her native city.

Centennial Women's Missionary Society met Monday, the president, Mrs. J. Wilson, presiding. Mrs. J. Elder conducted the devotional period. A delegation of women was appointed to visit the East Indian homes in October. Mrs. G. Henderson gave a talk on Christian Stewardship. Plans were laid for the Presbyterian rally at Centennial Church, September 26. Mrs. Hubbard read some verses composed by the president for the National Week of Prayer. The first chapter of the new study book, "Serving With the Sons of Shuh," was reviewed by Mrs. H. B. Harris. Mrs. A. Rogers spoke in appreciation of Dr. and Mrs. S. Howard, who left the city recently to take up residence in Vancouver.

CORBIE HILL A.Y.P.A.

St. John's A.Y.P.A., Corbie Hill, met at the vicarage Tuesday with the vice-president, Harriet Freeman, presiding. Plans for the fall and winter were discussed. An executive meeting will be held Monday, September 22, at the home of Mrs. A. Freeman.

WEARING THE 150-YEAR-OLD bridal gown, which was made in Naples, Italy, for her great-great-grandmother and has since been worn by six generations of brides, the former Enid Elizabeth Daphne (Betty) Nicholson, is seen leaving the church after her marriage last month to Mr. John de Bretton Giolma, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Giolma, Victoria. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Swinton Nicholson of North Vancouver, where the wedding took place. Her quaint gown is of tapestry taffeta, in ivory tone over white chiffon, with bishop sleeves and Medici collar of antique lace.

Social and Personal

Lady Byng of Vimy is visiting Mrs. Victor Sifton at her summer residence, Assiniboine Lodge Brockville.

P.O. Bruce Revoy and his bride, the former Bea Noonan, who were married in Vancouver August 30, have arrived in Victoria and are making their home at 548 Bastion Street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wilkinson of Winnipeg have arrived to spend a month at the coast, and will be the guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wilkinson Jr., Craigflower Road.

Dr. Deborah Aish left Victoria on Monday for Hamilton, Ont., where she will resume her duties at McMaster University. Dr. Aish spent the summer at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Aish, Esquimalt.

A Winnipeg engagement of interest here is that of Miss Margaret Ennis to Mr. Kenneth Reid Gowan, youngest son of Mr. George H. Gowan of Victoria, B.C., and the late Mrs. Gowan. The wedding will take place October 11, in the Manitoba capital.

Mrs. W. R. Chisholm of Calgary and her small daughter Gail, in company with the former's mother, Mrs. Jack Bishop, of Vancouver, are holidaying here, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lawrie, Monterey Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Witty, Bilston Farm, Metcosh.

Miss Ruth Jardine, who is to be married shortly to Mr. Bill White, was complimented at a kitchen shower given last night by Miss Mary Bridges and Miss Gwen Dodsworth at the latter's home, 1745 Lee Avenue. The gifts were presented in a large decorated saucenpan, and the bride-to-be received a bouquet of pink carnations. Mrs. A. O. Jardine presided at the supper table which was centred with a low bowl of carnations and heather, and assisting with the serving was Miss Deirdre Jardine. Other invited guests were Mrs. A. White, Mrs. P. Dodsworth, Mrs. C. Bridges, Mrs. J. Merry, Mrs. R. S. McCann, Mrs. A. Stevenson, Miss Marjorie Jardine, Mrs. Barbara Clowes, Miss Theo Jardine, Miss Naomi Griffin, Miss June Jardine, Miss Barbara Crane, Miss Edna Grey and Miss Deirdre Jardine.

Married 60' years ago in Birmingham, England, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Birkett, Grange Road, Saanich, received many flowers and congratulatory messages on the celebration of their diamond wedding yesterday. Among the many gifts was a clock, presented by Rev. G. A. Reynolds of the First Baptist Church on behalf of the church members, Mrs. Birkett being an active worker in the church. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Birkett lived in Portland, Oregon, and Vancouver for a number of years before coming here in 1912 to make their home. Mr. Birkett served overseas with the 102nd Battalion in the last war, and was for some years employed at Wilson and Lenesty's as a gunsmith. With them for yesterday's celebration were their two daughters, Mrs. D. A. Rose and Mrs. Stanley Gill, both of Victoria, and two sons, Mr. Frank Birkett Jr., coming from Vancouver with his wife, together with eight grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lort have returned to their home at Deep Cove after a holiday trip on the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Husband, "Queenswood," Arbutus Road, returned this week from a holiday trip to Banff and Jasper, having competed in the Totem Week golf tournament at Jasper Park Lodge.

Mrs. Jack Hill entertained at the tea hour Tuesday afternoon at her home, 1316 Carnew Street, for Mrs. E. W. Fyfe, who is being welcomed home after spending the summer months on the prairie. The tea table was covered with a handmade crocheted cloth, centred with a cut glass bowl of petunias, and the guest of honor's place was appropriately marked with an ice cream cake inscribed "Welcome Home," and which she later cut. The other guests included Mrs. J. Johnston, Mrs. D. Greensides, Mrs. P. Nielsen, and the Misses Gladys Nielsen, J. Birovesku, Little Sharon and Alan Greensides, and Allison and Howard Hill.

About 150 B.I.L.'s attended the stag dinner party arranged by the husbands of local P.E.O.'s in honor of the male visitors here with the Supreme Chapter Convention, the affair being held last night at the Royal Colwood Golf Club. A feature of the menu was salmon, which had been caught by visiting B.I.L.'s, on a fishing trip yesterday, and moose that had been shot by a mainland member. Mr. Percy B. Scourrah acted a chairman, and Mr. R. W. Mayhew, M.P., spoke briefly in appreciative terms of the United States' assistance in this critical period, and also told the visiting Americans something of Canada's war effort. An informal program of musical numbers rounded out a merry evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nevison (nee Florence Miller), who were married last Friday, have returned from their honeymoon and are residing in the Garesche Block, Yates Street, Mrs. Thomas Restell, the bride's sister, entertained at her home, 1630 Haultain Street, recently in honor of Mrs. Nevison, Mrs. U. M. Jackson being a joint hostess. The guest of honor was presented with a corsage of rosebuds and a china tea set concealed beneath the skirt of a doll dressed in bridal array. Centring the lace-covered tea table was a silver bowl of pompon dahlias in autumn shades. Other guests were Mesdames R. Fenlon, H. Robinson, W. Stewart, P. Burke, F. Martin, H. Irish, W. Brown, J. Patterson and W. Cross, and the Misses Doreen Thoms, Elsie Ratcliffe, Teresa Wragg, Vickie Wilson, G. Edison and N. Booth.

Miss Betty Mulliner, a September bride-to-be, was the guest of honor when Miss Lucy Huzzey entertained at her home on Cecelia Road Tuesday evening with a linen shower. The dainty gifts were contained in a "Ship of Joy," prettily decorated in pink and white, and in addition the bride-to-be, received a corsage of Ophelia roses and her mother a corsage of pink carnations. Games caused much amusement, and Miss Betty Cottet was the winner of the prize. Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table. From a silver

Ingenuity Shown In P.E.O. Badges

How the 1,983 women attending the P.E.O. convention at the Empress Hotel this week can find each other is a problem that has been met in an ingenious manner by some chapters. Attached to the name cards on members' coat lapels are cleverly contrived insignias of their particular locality.

Indiana delegates wear a large green sycamore leaf, the state emblem, inscribed "On the Banks of the Wabash," with two real sycamore nuts attached. The tinkling of a bell indicates the approach of a California delegate, the tiny green metal bells, with a poppy attached, being genuine mission bells, made by a famous woman bell-maker in that southern state.

Other state flowers are used: the mauve columbine for Colorado, and violets for Illinois. Hawaiian delegates wear orange and white crepe paper leis, and miniature tann-colored sheep, made from real sheepskin, are worn by the Idaho chapters. Only our president, "one member said, "wears a black sheep."

Members from two states, New York and Nebraska, chose miniature maps of their state outlines. The "Missouri mule" was there, carved in wood, and the "cheese state" delegates from Wisconsin wore tiny cardboard cheese boxes. "Later," said one member, "everyone is going to be given a box full of real cheese." Members from Minnesota, the state of Indian lore, inserted small pictures of Lake Minnetonka in their name lapels, attached to which were tiny blue vials of water, signifying the "Land of the sky-blue water." An interesting identification tag was that of the New Mexican chapters, using the native minerals, copper, silver and turquoise, in a design showing a "road-runner," typical bird of that area, with a yucca, an odd-flowering tree, in the background, the medallions being made by members of the Sante Fe chapter.

Weddings

HATCHER—COOK

A quiet wedding was solemnized Wednesday night at 8.30 at the home of the officiating minister, the Rev. James Hood, between William Charles, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatcher of Calgary, Alta., and Margaret Joyce, youngest daughter of Mrs. G. Cook, 463 Nelson Street, Victoria. The bride was attended by Miss Myrtle Cook, her sister, and the groom by Mr. H. E. Maitland. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher left on a trip to the mainland and on their return will live in Victoria.

BARRY—POWELL

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Powell, Port Alberni, last Saturday evening, their daughter Evelyn, was married to Thomas, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barry of Cobble Hill, under an arch of white ribbon streamers flanked with roses and gladioli. The bride wore a blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses and heather. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was supported by her sister Evon, while Jack Barry was best man. After the ceremony a reception was attended by about 40 guests. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a lace cloth and centred with a five-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom under a lily of the valley. The young couple received many gifts including a cheque from Mr. Cowan, the groom's employer, and fellow employees. After a honeymoon spent touring the island, Mr. and Mrs. Barry are making their home at Cherry Point.

A.R.P. ACTIVITIES

Reports Occupy Attention P.E.O. Delegates

Reports occupied the attention of the P.E.O. Supreme Chapter at this morning's session at the Crystal Garden. Mrs. Hazel E. Hine, executive secretary, presented her report; the report of the board of trustees of the educational loan fund was given by Mrs. Mary M. Allen, Mrs. Elsie P. Remely reported for the board of trustees of the supply department and Mrs. Gertrude C. Sebern for the memorial library. Final registration figures show that 1105 delegates are registered for the convention, together with 878 visitors.

Miss Jean Anderson of Ontario led the recital of the object and aims, and Mrs. Alice H. Scott, past supreme president, led the devotions, after which the entire assembly sang Kipling's "Recessional."

At the meeting last evening a symposium included "Hawaii's A.B.C.'s," by Miss Mabel Frazer of Hawaii, "Inspiration," by Mrs. Wilburta K. Cady, Wyoming, and "What Hast Thou in Thine House?" by Mrs. Madeline G. Wolfe, past state president of Washington. Mrs. Winona Evans Reeves, past president of the Supreme Chapter, spoke on the subject "Real Possessions," after which Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar of Oregon, junior past president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, gave an address on "Enlarge the Place of Thy Tent." Several solos were sung by Miss Mary Wallis, New Mexico, accompanied by Mrs. Gwladys Street.

Yesterday afternoon's report was read by the guards and Chapter "A," British Columbia, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy L. Weller, the organizer, conducted a model meeting. Mrs. Winona Evans Reeves of Illinois, editor of the P.E.O. Record, gave her report, followed by a report of the board of trustees for the P.E.O. Record, by Mrs. Clara Waugh. Miss Marjorie Mitchell read the report of the president of Coty Junior College, Mrs. Louise Henly reporting for the college board of trustees and Mrs. Ruth Earp for the committee on Coty College dormitory furnishings.

WOMEN SOLDIERS REPORT MONDAY

Clubwomen's News

Owing to the late arrival of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. J. Tyndall, visiting officers from Toronto, there will be no meeting for women in the Salvation Army Citadel, Broad Street, Friday evening. Mrs. Tyndall will meet the members of the League of Mercy before the public meeting Saturday evening.

The Women's Benefit Association met in the Sons of England Hall Monday evening. Mrs. M. Stephen presiding. Financial reports were read; Mrs. Mattison, sewing convener, arranged for the next meeting, September 29, at the home of Mrs. Cameron, 920 Cloverdale Avenue, with Mesdames Baillies, McNeil and H. Barraclough assisting the hostess. The date of the fall bazaar was set for November 3, with the annual banquet to be held at that time. Mrs. Brown reported the quilt had been completed and she and her committee were given a hearty vote of thanks; Mrs. Barraclough will be in charge of tickets. A card party will be held September 15, with Mrs. Ritchie as the convener. The girls' club will resume its meetings this month at the home of Miss F. Cownden, 919 Hillside Ave., September 19.

The Ladies' Guild of the Connaught Seamen's Institute met Tuesday, Mrs. J. W. Church, second vice-president, in the chair. The treasurer's report was read; Mrs. J. Quinn and Mrs. H. M. S. Cotter told of visiting Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals when fruit, cigarettes and magazines were given to the patients. The wool convener reported three pairs long seamen's stockings, three sweaters and 12 pairs of socks given away. Permission was given to purchase a fresh supply of wool. Mrs. R. W. Sayer was elected to the house committee, as Mrs. R. Shanks had found it necessary to resign. Plans were made for the tag day Saturday, September 20, when the public is asked to support the worthy cause as generously as possible. Tea hostesses were Mrs. Cavin and Mrs. Wentworth Bell.

Sir James Douglas Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday evening, the president, Mrs. Cunningham, in the chair. Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read, also letters of appreciation from the retiring teachers, Miss George and Miss MacNaughton, who had been presented with farewell gifts. On Friday afternoon, September 19, a tea for the mothers of new comers to the school will be held. Mrs. E. Hunter is convener of the affair. The annual bazaar on November 5 will be convenered by the president, Mrs. Dowell, leader of the Adolescent Study Group extended a cordial invitation to mothers of children over nine to attend the first meeting at the home of Mrs. Roberts, 1220 MacKenzie Street. A similar invitation was given by Mrs. Woollett, in the absence of Mrs. Stone, to mothers of younger children to join the junior group. Miss Peggy Butterfield, accompanied by Miss Margaret Husband, sang two solos. Plans for a novel card party on October 1 are being made by Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. J. Cameron, Mrs. H. Howard, Mrs. W. Scott and Miss Hiscocks. Principal Wilson invited anyone who cares to join with the pupils in a consecration ceremony in the auditorium of the school at 2.30 p.m. September 17. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Roberts and her committee.

Stewed Or Dried Fruits Fit Well Into Thrift Menu

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Clear soups, broiled or roasted meats, plain vegetables, salads, and stewed or fresh fruits, in large quantities, keep adolescents healthy.

Great quantities of fruit are important. For economy's sake, some of the weekly fruit allowance should be dried and stewed. Bananas are a good and inexpensive standby.

There should be some citrus fruit in the diet every day. Tomatoes, very cheap right now, are an excellent source of vitamin C. Canned grapefruit juice is cheaper now than fresh, and for vitamin C is equally as good.

Mothers on a strict budget can serve at least two vegetables a day and do it with economy if they buy what is abundant in the market and select palatable canned vegetables when they are cheaper in that form than fresh.

The vitamin content of canned vegetables is usually very high because of the method of cooking them in an approximate vacuum. Among the important fresh vegetables now abundant and therefore cheap are beans, green, wax and lima—beets, carrots, celery, cauliflower, corn, kohlrabi, kale, turnips, peas, peppers and various salad greens.

Scalloped Cabbage and Apples
Two quarts shredded raw cabbage, 1 quart tart sliced apples, 2 teaspoons salt, 3 tablespoons butter or other fat, 1 teaspoon brown sugar, 1 cup buttered bread crumbs.

Place alternate layers of the cabbage and apples in a greased baking dish. Season each layer with salt and fat and sprinkle brown sugar over the apples. Spread the buttered crumbs over the last layer. Cover, bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes, or until the cabbage and apples are tender. Remove the cover toward the last of the baking so that crumbs can brown. Serve hot from the dish.

Breakfast—Tomato and lemon juice, oatmeal muffins, crisp bacon, coffee, milk.

Luncheon—Creamed left-over vegetables in pop-over cases, gingerbread, stewed apricots, milk, etc.

Dinner—Fresh fruit cup, broiled steak, mashed potatoes, scalloped cabbage and apple, cream of tapioca with fresh sliced peaches, coffee, milk.

Appeal for Magazines

A special appeal is being made for magazines for men in the war services by Mrs. J. Quinn on behalf of the municipal chapter I.O.D.E. Since the beginning of the war, magazines have been supplied to men of the navy, army and air force at the various forts and stations in the vicinity of Victoria, and also to all ships on patrol. Every merchant ship sailing from Esquimalt is supplied with 1,000 magazines for the two-month trip to England by the I.O.D.E. Many letters of gratitude have been received for this service which gives the sailor, soldier or airman a few hours of pleasant reading during a lull in the pursuance of his arduous duties.

Stocks of magazines on hand are very low and Mrs. Quinn asks particularly for pictorial and geographic magazines. They may be left at Prince Robert House,

Red Cross Notes

The committee for the Shawigan unit resumed its regular monthly meetings September 8. President W. Maitland was in the chair. The resignation of Mrs. Orr as refugee work convener was accepted. Mrs. A. Sutton was appointed to take over the work. The workroom will be opened on Wednesday and the members were requested to campaign for more workers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Waugh entertained members of the Shirley unit of the Red Cross at their meeting last Thursday evening. Mrs. H. F. Anderson was in the chair. The resignation of Mrs. E. Robinson as secretary-treasurer was received. Mrs. M. A. Clark was elected to finish out the term. A resume of the work done since the unit was formed a year ago, was given. The following were made and sent in to headquarters: One dozen surgical towels, 42 sailors' sweaters, 21 pairs pyjamas, seven pairs wristlets, 18 body belts, one pair socks, two helmets, also two women's dresses, four skirts, one blouse, 12 boys' vests, one boy's sweater, two shirts, one pair pants, braces, one girl's overcoat, one girl's dress for refugees. The sum of $630.50 was also forwarded, the proceeds of various entertainments. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. T. E. Cross on September 25 at 8. A Red Cross dance will be held at Shirley Hall on Saturday evening, September 13.

Former Mayor Writes Manual

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—Southern England, a country of winding roads and countless villages, is becoming as familiar to Canadian army drivers as the districts through which they drove their cars at home. The men are getting help in moving about from Lieut. Dave Croll, former mayor of Windsor, Ont.

DAVID CROLL

There are no signposts to guide the novice to English road travel along the myriad highways crisscrossing the hills and heaths of the south country. Polite but wary villagers, always on guard against intruders, cannot be counted upon to give directions.

But army dispatch riders, whose job is to get to a given point by the shortest possible route, are learning the patterns of the countryside, its roads and its lanes, almost as well as the English people who have lived here all their lives.

Skill at map-reading is one of the requisites of a dispatch rider and the Canadians are rapidly gaining a reputation for being able to find their way with only a map as their guide.

To help them in their work, Lieut. Croll, former minister of welfare and municipal affairs in the Ontario government, has prepared a small book and chart called the "Dispatch Rider's Primer and Alphabet of Map Reading."

"Make it your purpose in the army, not to be a jack of all trades, but to be a master of one, for this is a war of specialists," Croll wrote in his introduction. "Battles today are won by specialists—men and machines highly tuned for a particular job."

"Don't ever forget the war is a hard master; the cost of failure—your life. The cost to the enemy is the same—be a realist."

Joining R.C.A.F.

TULARE, Cal. (AP)—Dale Rankin, 18-year-old son of J. G. (Tex) Rankin, famous acrobatic flier, left today for Vancouver, to join the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Tex Rankin, operator of the Rankin Aeronautical Academy here, said he and Mrs. Rankin had given their consent for their son to report for duty with the R.C.A.F. Dale enlisted in the R.C.A.F. during a vacation trip to the northwest this summer, but needed his parents' consent to be accepted for active duty.

Young Rankin has about 200 flying hours to his credit and has been trained in aerial acrobatics by his father.

Tex Rankin enlisted when he was about the same age as his son now is and served as an aviator overseas in the World War.

Pictures Needed

Out in some of the more remote and isolated spots on the coast the R.C.A.F. is maintaining a constant watch—a vigil night and day. Some of these outposts are lonely and officers and men try to make them cheerful and comfortable.

The public can be a partner in this effort. Through the auxiliary services co-ordinating council, citizens are asked to donate pictures suitable for hanging in men's canteens and officers' messes. They are also asked for an English billiard table for one of the most remote detachments.

All donations should be sent to the Red Cross Superfluties Shop, 1220 Government Street, Victoria, and the gifts will be forwarded to the R.C.A.F. detachments needing them.

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Department officials announce that Julius Lupi and Umberto Zebirillo, Italians of Montreal, had been arrested on orders from the held under Defence of Canada Regulations. Their case will be reviewed by authorities and decision will then be taken as to whether they will be interned.

Letters to the Editor

SAANICH WATER WELLS

Too many of the objections to the proposed by-law appear to be seeing only the shadow and not the substance.

From an accounting and financial viewpoint, the project is thoroughly sound, and it is not for the layman to criticize the opinions of eminent and geologically qualified engineers and geologists who have passed judgment on the location of the wells, the quantity and quality of the water already secured and (with the passing of the by-law, September 20), guaranteed for delivery to Saanich residents.

The alternative: "A Greater Victoria Water Board" has been mooted by the Victoria City Council. Let us look into that. How would Saanich be represented on that board? If pro rata with ratepayers of Victoria, we should be outnumbered about 2 to 1. Always in the minority!

This last summer, the citizens of Victoria and adjacent municipalities were compelled to curtail the use of water. On July 15, the following appeared in our evening paper: "In explaining the temporary measure taken to safeguard domestic supply and pressure in the higher parts of Victoria and surrounding districts, Alderman Worthington stated: 'If full pressure were used, the main would be blown apart.' On July 17 (same paper), 'Alderman Worthington noted a previous city engineer had estimated costs of a new system as something over $2,000,000!'"

Any Greater Victoria Water Board consummated would automatically bring Saanich ratepayers into sharing the expenses of the renewal of the pipe line from Sooke Lake... apparently a threatened probability.

Now, regardless of whether or not the by-law of September 20 is passed, and ignoring the previous paragraph, Saanich is faced with the "absolute certainty" of constructing in the very near future, one, if not two reservoirs and laying large supply pipes, the total estimated expenditure being around $320,000. At the same time Saanich would still depend upon Victoria for its water supply.

This sum of $320,000 will have to be raised by a loan but it will not bring us any nearer to owning and controlling our water system. That brings us to the importance of and the advantages to be obtained, by owning and controlling a water supply derived from the wells already sunk.

ACCOUNTING AND FINANCIAL VIEWPOINTS

At the present time, Saanich is paying the city of Victoria about $21,000 a year for approximately 300,000,000 gallons of water at seven cents per 1,000 gallons. If Victoria's claim is upheld by the court, this will be increased to $28,000 with arrears of $7,000 for each of the past five years.

The Saanich consumers of water are being charged a rate per 1,000 gallons, plus water frontage, sufficient to pay the city of Victoria charges as above, and at the same time meet the annual principal and interest payments of $32,925 on an existing waterworks debt of $435,000 which will be paid off in full in 1944.

Saanich Water Works Department derives from all sources a revenue of $100,000 per annum to meet all charges, including labor and sundry supplies. With the compulsory building of reservoirs and larger pipes, this revenue will have to be maintained.

Passing the proposed by-law would entail interest and sinking fund charges of around $26,000 per year, and, assuming that water consumption remains at 300,000,000 gallons per year, the present revenue would more than meet these charges and all operating expense. At the same time it would give us ownership and control of the water supply.

But (and a very large but) with the water supply available from the wells estimated by competent geologists as 28 times larger than our present, and often restricted, consumption, consumers would be permitted, if not urged, to use greater quantities of water during the summer months to help swell the revenue. With a larger supply of water and larger revenue, water rates could conceivably be reduced rather than increased as now demanded by the city of Victoria.

Should Saanich be induced, at a later date to participate in a Greater Victoria Water Board, what would our position be then? Certainly not that of poor relations thankful for whatever the city fathers decided to grant us.

As for hypothetical conjecture of wells running dry... there is also talk of possible sabotage of the Sooke water line; and hasn't Alderman Worthington admitted the line may burst of high pressure?

If the Sooke line were destroyed, Saanich might even be asked to supply water to the city of Victoria. Two sources of supply are better than one... for the same amount of money!

I would advise objectors to the by-law to read more carefully the pamphlet entitled "Proposed Water Improvement Scheme," edited by the Reeve and the chairman of the Saanich Water Committee and distributed by mail to every ratepayer in the municipality.

Years ago the city charged the municipality too much for high school tuition and Saanich residents built their own high schools to the great advantage of all. Would it not be fair to assume that we would benefit from owning our water supply as well as our educational facilities?

COMMERCIALIZING 'V'

It is hard to understand how supposedly intelligent grown-ups can indulge in the childish mummery of the current "V-for-Victory" campaign. Whatever dignity or significance the movement may have in Europe is completely lost in the ridiculous craze it has become in North America.

There are neckties with "V" designs, "V" pins, "V" lipstick, "V" slippers, "V" hair-dos. A special toe tap is advertised for tapping out the "V" in Morse code. Now it is all very well for children to play at this sort of thing, but why their parents should go in for it is beyond me.

Do we take our responsibilities so lightly that it means nothing more than a new type of permanent wave or a new style necktie?

Featuring "Black" in a New Fall Silhouette

... a New You With a New Look of Slenderness
Melting Into Curves

There's a fluid feeling in Fall's fashion picture that gives you a magically slim waist... that delicately smoothes your shoulders into feminine softness and carefully rounds your hips into unaffected, graceful lines.

SHOULDERS

Be utterly feminine in your silhouette this fall with smooth, soft shoulders gently rounded. Gone are the days of the "Football" shoulders, and now you can be natural... with just enough padding to give you a good line.

SLEEVES

Dare to be new with dolman-like sleeves or, if you're the conservative type, you'll find comfortable, easy-fitting sleeves with gentle width throughout, set in slightly deeper armholes... a delightful change from last year's tight, strained armholes.

WAISTLINES

Yes, they're going down... but not the way they did in 1939. This fall they're fitted... fitted enough to give you an inches-limmer look and to emphasize the soft, easy fullness above your waistline. The long-torso look is what you're striving after, with set-in belts, hip yokes and darted middiffs.

SKIRTS

All your favorite skirts return with a soft, straighter look. There are unpressed pleats, panels of fullness, all-around pleats, pleats for hip interest and long tunics above ready-like flares that go more for your hips than diet. For the very young slim figure there's the ever popular, ever-flattering dirndl.

By PETE SALLAWAY

CURRENT 14-day race meet at the Willows will see a great battle for the riding championship if the standings at the end of the first three days are any criterion. Reports from the officials are that the boys are keen as mustard to lift the honors and every one of the hardbreds is anxious to grab that silver fox neckpiece awarded to the champion through the good graces of Alf Hines of Vancouver.

After three days of booting the ponies around the turns and down the straightaways of the five-eighths of a mile strip we find three of the topnotch boys, Jack Bailey, Ray Christensen and the veteran Emil Spörri setting the pace, each with 17 points to his credit. All three are well known to local fans and have built up quite a following even in so short a period. Christensen is having one of the best seasons of his career, with a splendid record of winners for his number of mounts. Spörri, one of the greatest riders in the history of British Columbia racing, is the grizzled veteran who claims to 38 years but is reckoned to be 42 by many of the racing public who know him well. Bailey is the least known of the three pacesetters, but his riding to date has stamped him as one of the best.

Close in behind the leaders, with 14 points, is Augie Sylvester, while third place is shared by Alex. Haller and Ken Taylor, each with 12 points. Haller is the boy who captured the championship at the Willows last year. Next in line is Walter Beard, with 11 points, while G. Godley has posted one less point on the board.

Present at the Willows this season is the largest contingent of riders in many years. In addition to all the well-known boys who invade the track every year are several new pilots such as Walter Beard, Ken Taylor, P. Orpen, Bill Woodhouse, W. Caryk, Roy Summers, G. Godley, Stan Connell, N. G. dreau and J. Braddish.

Scramble for the riding championship on Vancouver tracks this season saw the boys wage a nip-and-tuck affair right up until the final day. The winner was Spörri, by the closest possible margin, one mount over Haller. In the final week never more than one or two mounts separated the pair, and when the "old-timer" copped the prize he carried the good wishes of the racing public, who admire and love the veteran.

In the eight years that a prize has been awarded for the leading rider on the mainline, Spörri has more championships to his credit than any other pilot. He established a great record by lifting the crown three successive years, 1936-37-38. In 1939 A. Gruber was the winner, with Haller taking the title last year. Then Spörri treated the boys to a real comeback this season to head the list despite the keen competition offered by the younger lads of the saddle.

Navy Boxing Show

The lively lads in navy blue will cover their knuckles with the padded mittens tomorrow for a fight card at the naval barracks. The show will be under the supervision of Lieut. Ross, boxing officer, and the first bout is scheduled for 8.15.

The event will not be open to the general public.

Boxers listed to appear are: Writer Brady, A.B. Lawrence, Sub-Lieut. Simpson, A.B. Jamieson, Boy Mann, Boy Kembel, Boy Smith, Boy Brown, Boy Dunn, Boy Onifrichuk, Boy Inglis, Boy Rae, O.S. Clark, O.S. Simmons, O.S. Buse, O.S. Collier, O.S. Scott, Stoker Dixon, L.S. M. Smith, Stoker Bilton, Writer Paterson, Writer Douglas and Cook Hanovich.

Following are the officials: Referee, Sub-Lieut. Cook, sports officer, R.C.N.R.; judges, P.O. Sweet and P.O. Dewhurst; timekeepers, S.P.O. McIntosh; corner coaches, L.S. Wilkinson and L.S. Beale; master of ceremonies, P.O. W. Smith.

Horse Show at Willows Tonight

Lovers of horseflesh will gather at the Horse Show Building at the Willows tonight for the annual show presented in connection with the fall fair. The event will be opened at 8 by Mayor McGavin.

One of the highlights of the exhibition, being staged in aid of the Lord Mayor's Fund for British bomb victims, will be the appearance of Dr. T. R. Whaley's string of five-gaited saddle horses. The five Kentucky thoroughbreds making their first appearance here have won fame and honor for their Vancouver owner.

Novelty act of the show will be a bareback wrestling match between teams from the Royal Canadian Air Force and the Army. Other events will be jumping classes and displays by two, four and six-horse teams.

Returning to the show this year is C. G. Carstairs of Alberta, with his teams of four and six, to compete with teams entered by R. Thoburn of Vancouver. Nine teams of two, four and six, have been entered. The stock parade will include the champion live-stock entries.

Air Force Wins

The R.A.F. yesterday showed a Victoria Wednesday Cricket League eleven how the old English game should be played as they whipped a team drawn from the local league, 158 to 49.

Corpl. Thorner was the hero of the air service team, giving a fine display of free hitting to score 74 runs. He hit six sixes and seven fours in his innings and reached the 50 mark within 12 minutes. After the second wicket fell at 98 a temporary slump hit the air force, but the later batsmen made scores in the double figures to bring the total to 158.

When the Wednesday League came to bat it just couldn't get the runs needed to win. Corpl. Thorner followed up his fine batting with some good bowling, getting three wickets for five runs. The Victoria team had six men out for 26, Oakman and Johnson being the only batsmen able to get into double figures. Tom Hoggarth, veteran bowler, had the best average for the losers, getting five wickets for 20 runs.

Next week the R.A.F. will play Spencer's.

50-Pound Salmon Caught at Cowichan

One of the largest spring salmon ever caught in Cowichan Bay, a 50-pounder, was on display today in front of Roger Monteith's store, View Street.

The big fellow was landed by Roy Woolridge on a Martin red-gill plug, using only four ounces of weight and light tackle.

The bay is reported full of springs and coho now with some of the finest fishing in the history of the resort. Although the coho run has not hit its peak, good fishing is reported all day.

Women's City Golf Championship Set

Women golfers will seek the city championship over the 36-hole medal route as the result of a decision reached yesterday at a meeting of representatives of the local clubs. The event is slated for September 29 and 30 at the Uplands Club, with proceeds to be turned over to the Lord Mayor's Fund for British air raid victims.

Mrs. H. F. Crowe was elected president of the Vancouver Island branch of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union, with Miss Ruth Jones as secretary. Mrs. E. Jackson will be handicap manager.

Miss Margaret Sutcliffe, Oak Bay, is expected to defend her championship.

Hunters Do Well at Forbes Landing

It was like old home week for Victoria sportsmen at Forbes Landing last week-end for the opening of the hunting season.

Frank Graham, who boasts of 75 summers, was out bright and early and brought in one of the first deer. Freddy Hughes shot himself a bear, deer and got his limit of blue grouse. His partner, Bill Sylvester, got a deer and his limit of blues.

Practically all the Victorians got their limit of grouse, while many returned with deer. The hunting was the finest enjoyed at the up-land resort in years.

Other Victorians who reported in were Speed and Barney Olson, Dave Cook, Norman Lord, W. N. Lenfesty, Dr. Charlie Duck, Tom Lumsden and Charlie Wilson.

CARPET BOWLING

A meeting of the Crystal Garden Carpet Bowling Club will be held in the club rooms on Friday at 8 p.m.

Win Cars in Fish Derby

Awards of new automobiles went to Robert Moore, Tacoma, and Mrs. Clara Rickner, Seattle, by virtue of their catching largest salmon in the annual Seattle salmon derby. Moore's catch weighed 28 pounds 5 ounces, while Mrs. Rickner's fish scaled 21 pounds 3 ounces.

Horse Races

Masked Revue Upset

Mrs. N. Clowson's Masked Revue, a 9-year-old gelding, captured the fourth and feature race at Willows track yesterday in a mild upset.

It was a mile and 70-yard affair for some of the better group of claiming horses and the public had established the entry of Lee Somers and Cetoma odds on favorites after their recent impressive wins. But the off-track did not seem to suit the pair and they finished well in the rack. Masked Revue came driving through on the back stretch and had three lengths to the good at the finish. He returned $22.30 straight in the mutuels. Ynomis closed with her usual thundering rush to get the place and Our Haven was third.

Jockey K. Taylor, who had the mount, followed up with another win in the fifth when he piloted Willie Marcus, a 4 to 1 shot, down in front by six lengths.

A mishap marked the first race when the 1 to 2 favorite, Beauty Warm, fell at the clubhouse turn. Jockey Emil Spörri was given a shaking up and passed up his riding engagement in the second, but got back in the saddle later.

Eagles' Baseball Champs

Davies, Restell Star

Eagles are city baseball champions. Last night manager Charles Strouger's boys wrote fairs to their drawn-out play-off with Pitzer & Nex by registering their third triumph 11 to 5. The game marked the climax of a successful ball season which saw the Eagles make a clean sweep of the local competitions.

In addition to the Rithet Cup for the city crown, the lodgemen captured the McGavin Cup in a play-off with Chemainus. At the conclusion of play the handsome Rithet trophy was presented to the Eagles by Ted Taylor, vice-president of the association.

Paced by Charlie Restell with four hits in as many trips to the plate, for a perfect evening, the Eagles uncorked a lot more punch. Three others, Yardley, Heindl of Winnipeg and Kabat himself will apparently handle most of the passing assignments. The coach himself is one of the best kickers in the country.

Short score: R. H. E. Eagles ----- 11 12 1 Pitzer & Nex ----- 5 4 1 Batteries—Davies and Bridge-wood; Maitland, Nicol and Cosier.

Grizzlies Meet Regina

Kabat Predicts Win

VANCOUVER (CP)—Greg Kabat, the ex-Winnipeg football wizard who came west this year to give Vancouver its first Western Interprovincial Football Union entry, startled everyone yesterday by predicting victory for his Grizzlies against Regina Roughriders in the first of a two-game series at this coast city Saturday.

Coach Kabat's usually serious face was wreathed in smiles as he revealed several facts about the team that has grown into a formidable grid machine under his guidance.

"We'll give Regina a whipping Saturday," he said confidently. "We outweigh Regina and we have a shift backfield and we are going to toss that old ball around. It'll be a wide-open game and Vancouver will be proud of its team—you wait and see."

And Kabat backed up his prediction by naming a tentative starting line-up featuring 200-pound linemen, a quick-passing offensive and excellent kicking. Jimmy Gilkes of Calgary, Bill in the day and picked off a purse in the seventh with Thirsk. After elimination of the favorite, Valerie Jean, a 15 to 2 shot, went on to win the event, with Naper second and Camp Spur third.

Rapid Mortgage and Mortgage Lifter, two sons of the mud-running Mortgage, found the off track just what they needed and combined in an extremely popular daily double when they won the second and third races. The double returned only $10.15, shortest price of the meeting so far. Rapid Mortgage simply romped to his field in the second, winning by 15 lengths. Mortgage Lifter was all out to beat Belle Park by a head.

The one-two in the fifth race, Willie Marcus and Shasta Chub, posted a $17.30 return. In the seventh Thirsk combined with Stolen Color for $26.30.

Association officials announced yesterday they had turned over $485.65 to the Lord Mayor's Fund for British bomb victims as a result of Tuesday's charity day. This was the total gate receipts the association bearing all expenses.

Dodgers Tackle Cards With One-game Margin

Drop Pair Of Thrillers To Chicago

The breath-taking battle for the National League pennant has come to another crisis.

Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals, separated by only one game in the standings, open a crucial three-game series in St. Louis today and baseball fans, a little limp from the frenzied fight that has been going on all summer, are expectantly looking for these games to point out the eventual champion.

As a spectacle it will be a magnificent sight to see, but as a test of strength it is likely to be inconclusive simply because the teams appear to be so evenly matched.

They have collided 20 times already this season with St. Louis winning 10, Brooklyn nine and one game ending in a tie after 12 innings. They have played almost every day for five months and have arrived at this critical point in the schedule with only a single game separating them in the standings.

On that basis there seems little expectation of either team sweeping the series and nothing less would be decisive. If Brooklyn wins two and loses one it will leave the Dodgers with a two-game lead. If St. Louis wins two the teams will wind up in a virtual tie.

The bums from Brooklyn were bruised and beleaguered by an ambush at Chicago yesterday. The giant-killing Cubs, who swatted the Cardinals down with a vengeance a few days ago, swept the doubleheader, 5 to 4 and 5 to 3.

FIVERUN RALLY

Trailing 3 to 0 after seven innings, the Cubs scored five runs in the eighth and ninth innings to capture the first game in dramatic fashion.

In the nightcap they achieved their victory behind steady six-hit pitching by young Paul Erickson, aided greatly by Bill Nicholson's two run homers in the seventh.

In the first game two Dodger aces, Kirby Higbe and Whit Wyatt, were shelled from the hill and two Dodger hurlers were used in the second. Nevertheless Manager Leo Durocher stuck to his original pitching plan, announcing that he would lead off today with veteran Fred Fitzsimmons and follow with Curt Davis and Wyatt.

The Cards scored their two victories over the lowly Phillies by 3 to 2 and 1 to 0 scores, Harry Gumbert being the hero of the nightcap in which he allowed only three scattered hits. It was his 10th victory against six defeats.

Lon Warneke won the opener with a seven-hit fling job. It was his second game and his first victory since his no-hit effort August 30.

COAST LEAGUE

To the naked eye it might appear today that San Diego and Seattle are tied for the Coast Baseball League lead—the regulation three-numeral standings bear out the assumption by grading both teams with an identical .580.

This is strictly an illusion. Actually the San Diegans are about as far ahead as any club can seem to get these days in the unrepresed scramble for the 1941 pennant.

They stand at .5802 in the field of higher calculation, and Seattle at .5796, with Sacramento at .5792.

Although defeated last night by Oakland, 4 to 3, the leading Padres deserved to retain the top spot, for Seattle was again rained out of a doubleheader with San Francisco.

At Hollywood Sacramento nicked the Stars, 2 to 1, on Chet Wiecek's two-run homer in the third inning.

Burrards Tie Up Lacrosse Playoff

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Vancouver Burrards and New Westminster Adanacs were square today in their race for a berth in the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League finals after Burrards' 13 to 10 victory here last night offset a 10 to 7 defeat they suffered at the hands of Adanacs last Monday. Winner of the best-of-five series will meet Richmond Farmers for the title.

The teams matched goal for goal for the first half of the game, ending the first two periods tied 7 to 7. In the third quarter Jimmy Douglas of Adanacs was banned from the game for striking at referee Harry Gil-mour in a dispute over a dis-allowed Adanac goal, and Burrards took advantage of their superior manpower, ending the period with a lead of 11 to 9, and outscoring Adanacs 2 to 1 in the final quarter.

REVS PRACTICE

The Revellers, last year's Three-V Canadian Football champions, who are changing their tactics slightly this year to play American football against teams from Washington, will practice this evening at 6.30 at Macdonald Park.

Jimmy Miles Joins Nanaimo Clippers

NANAIMO (CP)—Championship hopes of Nanaimo Clippers, who reached the western Canada intermediate hockey finals last winter in their first season, were bolstered last night with the addition to their line-up of Jimmy Miles, right winger with Lacombe Athletics of the Alberta Intermediate League last year.

Miles, who amassed a total of 38 goals and 13 assists to become top scorer for the Lacombe squad last season, is expected to add considerable punch to the Clippers' 1941-42 team.

54-POUND SALMON TOWS BOAT MILE

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—J. Munro, Edmonton hardware merchant holidaying here, proudly exhibited a 54-pound tye salmon yesterday and related how the fish—largest ever landed here on light tackle—towed his boat for more than a mile before he landed it in Alberni Canal Tuesday night after a two-hour fight.

The big fish, measuring 44½ inches from head to tail and 36 inches in circumference, was taken on a 24-pound test line.

Mrs. Munro was with her husband at the time and her hand was cut slightly by a wire leader on the line as she aided in landing the salmon after a two-hour struggle.

LES POPE HEADS B.C. RUGBY UNION

VANCOUVER (CP)—Les Pope was named president of the British Columbia Rugby Union and decision made to carry on McKechnie Cup play again this year if Varsity fields a team, at a union meeting here last night.

Tiger Rofe will carry the duties of secretary-treasurer with Major McDonald, Victoria, chairman of referees; J. C. (Pongo) Oswald, honorary auditor, and Orville Moscrip, Vancouver, delegate to the B.C. Union.

B.C. rugby week will again be staged around Christmas.

Four Victoria and six Vancouver teams are expected to field teams. Vancouver teams expected in are Meralomas, Varsity, Rowing Club, Ex-Brittania, Ex-Byng and St. Georges.

NEED SOCCER REFEREES

As time approaches for the opening of the Victoria and District Football League and Inter-city circuit, officials announced yesterday they need referees for the forthcoming campaigns. Anyone wishing to handle matches this season is asked to communicate with Harold Bourne, 1031 Wollaston Street, or by phoning E 2333.

SOCCER MEETING

Annual meeting of the Victoria and District Football League will be held in the Colonist board room tonight at 8. All of last season's clubs and others interested in joining the organization are asked to have representatives present.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Peoples Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, doze, tired and peepish. Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power. Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.

DELICIOUS WAY TO GET VITAMIN C

You need a full supply every 24 hours

Oranges are an excellent natural source!

Adults can't feel their best—youngsters can't grow their best—unless they get plenty of vitamin C every day. It can't be stored in the body.
It's hard to get enough without abundant citrus fruits. But it's easy with fresh orange juice! A glassful each day supplies all you need for full vitamin C benefit.
And mothers, remember vitamin C is essential to the normal development and maintenance of teeth, gums and bones. So make it your daily rule. Use trademarked Sunkist Oranges. They're the finest from 14,000 co-operating California-Arizona growers. Best for Juice—and Every use!

When you smack
your lips and say...

THERE'S A FLAVOUR I REALLY GO FOR!

Four out of Five say "Kellogg's"

"What is your family's favourite ready-to-eat cereal?" Each year for the last three years an enormous majority of Canadian women from coast to coast have told us Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Asked specifically, "Which brand of corn flakes tastes best?" four out of five said "Kellogg's!" Taste experts, too, vote Kellogg's "First for Flavour!"

Your family, likewise, will enjoy Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Now, in two convenient sizes. When you eat out, ask for the triple-wrapped individual package. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Economical, too! The "30-second breakfast" costs only a few pennies for the whole family.

Winter-Tested
USED CARS

Scores of careful motor-wise buyers have found just the car they wanted during this Season-end Event and they've paid anywhere from $50 to $100 LESS than they would have done under ordinary circumstances. Still almost 50 fine Used Cars to be sold—we need the space and would rather take a loss than store these Used Cars all winter—even though we would then get far more for them.

Taxi Fares Up

First increase in taxi prices in Victoria coming about through higher costs of operation and suggested at a recent wage arbitration hearing was announced by C. & C. Taxi Company, in effect today.

The company raised its basic rate of 25 cents for the first eight-tenths of a mile to 35 cents. C. & C. was one of four companies concerned in the recent labor dispute and is the only one which so far has signed an agreement with its men on the basis suggested by the arbitration board.

The board advocated that taxi men should work for a higher taxi rate as the only means of providing further increases to the men beyond the 5 cent an hour increase given in the award.

B.C. Voters' List
Closes Saturday

The provincial voters list will close Saturday, K. G. Wiper announced today. Those wishing to vote in the coming election were advised by him to make sure their names were on the list by that date.

Members of the army, navy and air force were registered recently by special commissioners who visited each camp and barracks. Any who were missed should make application not later than Saturday.

The provincial voters' office, 614 View Street, will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday for information.

Taxes Trouble
Midway-Operator

If anyone wants to run the rides and sidshows at the Victoria Fair next year, W. F. Browning may be ready to say, "Go to it."

Mr. Browning is manager of the Browning Amusement Company Incorporated of Salem, Ore. His twinkling brown eyes show that he is normally a happy man, but today he is faced with double trouble—taxes and the lack of crowds. Unless he gets more support for the rides and shows at the fair, he'll be going back to Salem with little, if any, profit to show for his trip north.

Here is what Mr. Browning is obliged to pay, in addition to traveling expenses, to provide amusements at the fair. A 5 per cent amusement tax, a 20 per cent war tax on gross earnings, $100 flat rate at the border on each of four rides and $50 on each of three sidshows, 30 per cent of earnings to the fair association, 18 per cent corporation tax on net earnings, 15 per cent income tax on his own and his wife's income, with a $750 allowance, 5 per cent tax on his employees' wages.

An 11 per cent discount on Canadian money will reduce still further the returns from the trip.

"And," Mr. Browning adds with a smile, "to pay that 20 per cent I have to buy a $2 license."

Mayor Andrew McGivize today urged all citizens to give full support to the fair. He said attendance so far had been unsatisfactory and asked better attendance during the last few days.

City Truck Brakes
Claimed Deficient

Charles Dodgson, city workman charged with dangerous driving as the result of the May 9 accident on Garbally Road at the Gorge intersection which injured Edward Schacht, cyclist, told Magistrate H. C. Hall in City Police Court today he had previously advised the city mechanical superintendent the brakes on the truck he was driving were deficient.

The case was adjourned until Monday at the request of Gordon A. Cameron, defence counsel, to permit him to make further investigations on that point.

Constable L. Greenwood told the court he had been called to the accident and found Mr. Schacht injured on the sidewalk, his broken bicycle close by. The truck had been parked near the scene.

Dr. Herstein testified Schacht had sustained a fractured right shoulder, fractured left hip and fractured left hand in the mishap, had been confined to hospital three months and was still under treatment.

Smuggling Charge

James Victor Little, who pleaded guilty to a charge of smuggling into Victoria a $200 United States recording machine, was fined $50 and $250 costs by Magistrate H. C. Hall in City Police Court today.

Similar charges against James Little, arising from the same incident, were dropped. Harold Beckwith explaining he had been instructed by the Department of Customs not to press the charges.

Norman W. Whitaker, K.C., appearing for the accused, stated he had been informed the machine had been given to Victor Little, who had used it for three months in the United States and brought it back to Victoria with him in the back seat of his car. He had failed to declare it, counsel said.

PRESENTATIONS TO
LOCAL P.E.O.'s

British Columbia members of the P.E.O. honored three of their officers this morning at a ceremony in the Empress Hotel, when Mrs. P. B. Scourrah, president of the provincial chapter and chairman of the convention committee, was presented with a handsome silver entree dish, Mrs. H. S. Hurn, secretary of the convention committee, received a silver tray, and Mrs. T. H. Johns, treasurer, a silver hot water jug.

The gift to Mrs. Scourrah was accompanied by a handsome satin scroll inscribed with the names of all the British Columbia chapters. In making the presentations Mrs. Thos. Woodcock of Vancouver, junior past president of the Provincial Chapter, attested to the magnificent effort made by the trio in bringing the convention to Victoria and making the arrangements necessary in staging it so successfully.

Seven parking regulation violators paid $2.50 apiece in City Police Court today.

Victoria Drummer
Wins Contest

Chuck Rowe, 22, of Victoria, drummer in the local dance orchestra of Jimmy Miller, beat seven other contestants in a drumming contest with Gene Krupa's orchestra, when that famous American dance band gave a one-night performance in the Vancouver Auditorium.

For his achievement Chuck received a "High Hat" cymbal and stand and handled Krupa's drumming paraphernalia for four numbers on the program.

The Victoria winner lives at 1105 Princess Avenue, started playing the drums about seven years ago and has played for the present orchestra for the past year.

A Chinese who pleaded guilty to peddling without having the proper license at Sooke was fined $5 and $250 costs in Provincial Police Court Wednesday. He was fined also $5, $250 costs and $250 interpreter's fee when found guilty of failing to state correctly his address when asked by a police officer. A second Chinese was fined $250 court costs and $250 interpreter's fee when he pleaded guilty to peddling at View Royal without a license. Both men had taken out $20 peddlers' licenses since being charged, Constable W. Murray, prosecutor, informed the court.

Attendance Low
At Fall Fair

British Columbia Agricultural Association officials said today that paid admissions for the first four days of the Fall Fair totaled 3,167 fewer than during the corresponding period last year.

Paid admissions from Saturday to Wednesday inclusive totaled 20,279, compared with 23,446 last year. Dull and wet weather was blamed for the decrease in attendance. Fair officials expressed hope the public would give full support to the exhibition during the remainder of the week.

"What we need is more community spirit," said one official. "If residents of Vancouver and other cities can turn out in full force for community events, despite the rain, so can the people of Victoria."

Visitors to the fair saw new floral exhibits in the Main Building, entered in the 10th annual show of the Victoria Dahlia Society. George Smethurst was the chief winner in the section of the show open to all but commercial growers, taking prizes for the largest dahlia in the show and basket displays. The Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society won first prize for the best dahlia. Mrs. J. H. Smethurst won two first prizes in the novice class, and Arthur Perrey was chief winner in the dahlia seedlings class. J. C. Fields won several prizes for gladioli and also first prize for a basket of chrysanthemums.

Local sheep breeders took championship honors in judging of final classes yesterday. Champion Kerry Hill ram was shown by C. Ecclestone, Royal Oak. First prize for Kerry Hill pens went to E. J. T. Woodward, Victoria. H. H. B. Abbott of Abbotsford, won first prize for the best Kerry Hill ewe.

Judgment Reserved

Judgment was reserved today in Court of Appeal on the appeal of the Crown for an order setting aside a judgment in the case of Gordon McMy and reinstatement of conviction.

McMy was convicted by Magistrate MacQueen on March 5 and fined $50 and $250 costs for unlawfully transporting potatoes without written authority of the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board. On July 3, Judge J. C. Ellis allowed an appeal of McMy against the conviction and fines.

The Crown, upon information of E. A. Mackay, inspector of the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board, sought an order setting aside the judgment of Judge Ellis and reinstatement of conviction.

Police Watching
For Pair in Boat

Provincial Police motor launches are on the lookout for a decked 25-foot sailboat manned by two youths, Harry Billingsley, 18, of Vancouver, and Peter Blanchet of Sidney, bound for either Victoria or Vancouver. The craft left Prince Rupert on August 27, and the boys indicated their course would be via Hecate Straits and the west coast of Vancouver Island.

This course would take from 18 to 21 days. So far, no word has been received of the craft. Blanchet is said to be experienced in sailing small boats.

Billingsley formerly worked at the Premier Mine.

B.C. Watching
Skagit Power Plan

British Columbia will be represented at a hearing in Seattle next month of an application to the International Commission for construction of a power dam on the Skagit River in Washington State, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, said today. Mr. Gray said the dam might cause flood damage to timber in B.C. just above the border.

TOWN TOPICS

For speeding through a 25-mile-an-hour zone at the Colwood military camp, a motorist was fined $10 and $250 costs in Provincial Police Court Wednesday.

An East Indian was fined $10 and $250 costs in Provincial Police Court Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to operating a truck not equipped with clearance lights.

Establishment of a ferry service between McMillan Island and the north bank of the Fraser River was authorized by the government today. Bids were invited for a five-year charter.

Found guilty in Provincial Police Court Wednesday of crossing the middle line on a curve on the Island Highway, a motorist was fined $10 and $250 costs by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Herring reduction licenses were granted by the provincial government today to B.C. Packers Ltd. for plants at Alert Bay, Steveston, Kildonan, Namu, Pacific and Port Edward, and to Canadian Fishing Company for its Butedale plant.

Matthew Virtue of Squamish, B.C., was appointed stipendiary magistrate by the provincial government today. John P. McCutcheon of Chilliwack, and Sandes Ashe of Copper Mountain, were appointed justices of the peace.

School health regulations, which require quarantine of children coming into Victoria from the prairies as far as school attendance is concerned, are still being enforced, Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, reported today.

Harry H. Collins, 936 St. Patrick Street, has been appointed returning officer for the new Oak Bay riding in the forthcoming provincial election. Other island appointments: Nanaimo and The Islands, Nicholas Wright, Nanaimo; Alberni, John A. Macgregor, Port Alberni.

James R. Clark and 65 other residents of the Oak Bay Junction area today filed for the City Council a petition asking it to use its influence in moves to reduce the noise and vibration caused by street cars in that region. The petition suggested drivers should reduce their speed passing through the junction.

Addressing the Saanich Credit Union, H. G. Hinton, vice-president of the British Columbia Credit Union League, stressed the need for the formation of a Credit Union Council, by the credit unions of Victoria and Lower Vancouver Island. The convention held in Vancouver in June, was reviewed. Thirty-five out of 70 credit unions of B.C. were represented. The Saanich Credit Union went on record in favor of forming a local council.

LANDLORD LOSES

The claim of Sidney Coxworth for $87.50 rent from Evelyn MacLeod, Marguerite Witton and Ade Ashton was dismissed with costs in a County Court judgment handed down Wednesday by Judge J. N. Ellis.

Mr. Coxworth had sued for payment for the period during which he had removed furniture from a suite in a Rockland Avenue apartment and left it in a condition which made living there difficult. During the trial the defence held the landlord was not entitled to rental since he had withdrawn services and goods for which the rental contract had been made. Defence further stated he had declined an offer of a fixed sum in settlement.

Earlier the three defendants, in an action covered by Wednesday's judgment, had secured $505 damages from Mr. Coxworth for breaking and entering the flat and wrongful detention of goods.

Oak Bay Liberal
Nomination Monday

The nominating convention of the Oak Bay Liberal Association to name a candidate for the forthcoming provincial election will be held in Liberal headquarters, Government Street, Monday evening at 8.

All Liberals in Oak Bay and Liberals living in Ward 3, Saanich, which is now a part of the Oak Bay provincial constituency, may attend.

It is expected R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, will speak.

HEINTZMAN

How to Win Contentment and Relaxation

Music you enjoy... music that makes you relax, and makes you gloriously contented with life... is yours with a Heintzman Piano in your home. It is not something to dream about... it is pleasure you can have now. For the genuine Heintzman is within the reach of even the most modest income.

So stop in and see the new, smaller Heintzman models in our studio today. See how gloriously they harmonize with modern living-room furniture. Picture such a gloriously toned instrument in your home now, and how you can spend evenings of relaxation hearing the music of your mood responding to your touch.

Beard Nominated For Esquimalt Seat

Commander Charles Taschereau Beard, R.C.N. (retired), the man who was in command of H.M.C.S. Prince Robert when she captured the German freighter Weser, will turn to public life as Liberal candidate for Esquimalt in the forthcoming provincial election.

Commander Beard was given unanimous nomination by the Esquimalt District Liberal Association last night in Colwood Hall after Peter Johnson, the association secretary, had withdrawn from the contest.

The candidate in thanking the convention said: "I give you my word that, in return, I will do my best to win the seat, and if elected, do my best for the district."

He said he had always been a Liberal and had been asked on previous occasions to stand, but in view of his position in the service had remained apart from politics.

"I do not think anyone could accuse me while I was drawing government pay of not playing the game," he said.

Commander Beard said it had been suggested to him that since winning the war was the chief objective of governments today his personal knowledge might be of assistance to the province which was giving more help to the Dominion than most people knew about. He was also familiar with ex-servicemen's problems, of serious concern to the province after the war.

"But I will not get to first base without your help," he said.

Commander Beard was sponsored by J. F. Mesher and H. Prior and his nomination was made unanimous after Mr. Johnson withdrew.

Mr. Johnson was put up by W. Benson and H. A. Noel. He said he had not intended to have his name come forward until two days previously when two other prospective nominees had suddenly decided not to stand. Mr. Johnson said he had seen the organizer and got the impression that even if he were chosen candidate he would not get the government support he should. He was not financially able to carry on a campaign alone, he added. He appealed to Hon. George S. Pearson, Labor Minister, who was the chief speaker, to express his views on what seemed to be a dictatorship. The government had picked the wrong candidate before, he said.

Mr. Pearson said the government had any wish to dictate to the constituency and he pledged the government's support for any candidate chosen by the convention, regardless of what anyone might have said to Mr. Johnson.

HIGHLY REGARDED
"I know that Commander Beard is highly regarded by the government and with his wide reputation would be a most acceptable candidate," he said. "The thing for an association to remember is that they should pick the man who is most likely to carry the seat. A man who could not win does not help you."

Mr. Johnson said the minister's remarks took a load off his mind and possibly he had misinterpreted remarks made to him. Since the government thought Commander Beard had the best chance he would withdraw and pledged himself to work for the candidate.

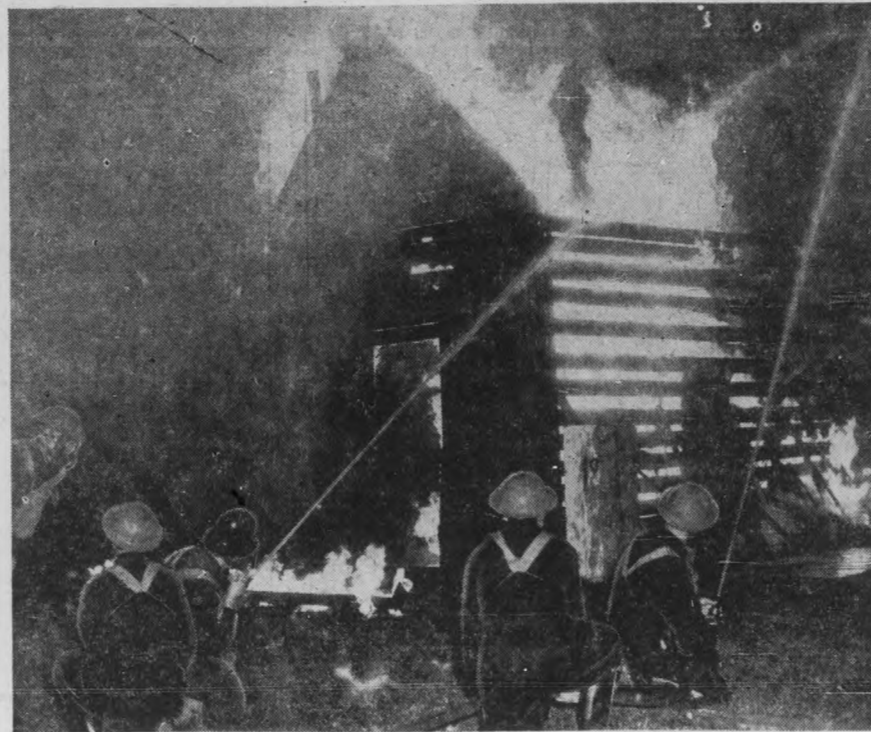

With no other nominations, Chairman J. P. Rogers, president, declared Commander Beard chosen by the 102 votes of the delegates present.

Mr. Pearson congratulated them on choosing "a very distinguished candidate of whose record the country is proud and

Realistic A.R.P. Display at Oak Bay

Oak Bay firemen attack a blaze supposed to have been set by a bomb in a mock air-raid. The house was built for the occasion.

Flames and explosions lent realism to a mock air raid last night as members of the Provincial Police, Oak Bay Fire Department and Oak Bay A.R.P. demonstrated what they would do in event of an attack.

The demonstration followed a reconsecration meeting in the Oak Bay High School auditorium, attended by hundreds of residents of the municipality. The meeting was addressed by Hon. Gordon Wismer, provincial Attorney-General.

The air raid demonstration opened with a salute to Reeve W. L. Woodhouse of Oak Bay in the form of a feu de joie fired with revolvers by a Provincial Police detachment. Police and A.R.P. wardens donned steel helmets as who will serve his constituency and his province as faithfully as he served his King."

The minister said that the opposition's cry of "Why have an election now?" was thoughtlessly and carelessly used. The elective system was the foundation of democracy, he pointed out, and the government had already passed the customary four years in office.

"It is perhaps a compliment that they suggest we delay the election," he said. "It must mean they are satisfied with the present government and have no alternative to offer."

Mr. Pearson dealt with the government's record and particularly its aim of doing everything that the federal government wishes to help prosecute the war.

It was quite true, he said, that in doing that the government had attempted to protect the rights of the province. Centralization of government, he said, brought a tendency toward dictatorship, the very thing against which the war was being fought. Decentralization promoted better democracy and in no country was decentralization more important than Canada.

"One of our greatest concerns has been the possible invasion of our rights that would lead to a breaking down of the standard of living we have built up in this province," he said.

After the war would come serious problems for the provincial government, he said, and the people would want in office an administration with experience whose viewpoint they knew, and whose success in dealing with previous problems they realized.

In reviewing the party's record, Mr. Pearson said it was the job of the B.C. police to co-operate. "That is precisely what we are out to do," he added. "We want to co-operate with every agency engaged in protecting the interests of British Columbia."

Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns offered a prayer for guidance and help in the war. Reeve Woodhouse was chairman.

a plane flew over Oak Bay High School grounds on a reconnaissance flight. In successive flights over the area, the bomber dropped flares, and incendiary bombs burst in the roped-off demonstration area. These were fought with stirrup-pumps and sand. Workers put on gas-masks and gas-proof clothing as heavy smoke rolled over the field. A specially-built house caught fire, and hose was rapidly laid out by the Oak Bay Fire Department. A saboteur, however, attacked the hose with an axe. While police tried to capture and eventually the section of the hose rendered useless, and soon water was being played on the fire. High explosive bombs raised their shattering blasts above the drone of the plane overhead and the wail of a siren, while decontamination squads puffed noisily through their respirators and ambulance crews carried supposed victims from the field.

At the reconsecration meeting, Attorney-General Wismer said it was evidence from the attendance that Oak Bay realized the duty of the civilian population was to be ready for whatever might take place.

"It is true that here in British Columbia we are a great many miles from the scene of conflict," he said, "but this war is like a chess game. How many people thought three months ago that a war would be going on in Russia today? How many in British Columbia know when the flames may spread to the Pacific? Why does anyone say there is no possibility of air raids on this vulnerable section of Canada? We are justified in calling on the people to be prepared."

Mr. Wismer said there were many people in Canada unfriendly to the Dominion's cause. No one in Norway had imagined there was danger from the fifth column that had infiltrated into the country, but Norway had found herself confronted with the enemy both within and without.

"We hope such a thing will never happen here," Mr. Wismer said, "but it is the part of prudence that we should be prepared to meet any situation which might arise."

He said the civilian protection organization in British Columbia, being composed of leading citizens, not only could serve in time of emergency but could help the Dominion government in making its various wartime campaigns more successful.

Mr. Wismer asked for less criticism of the organization. "This is a voluntary effort of patriotic British Columbians," he said. "Instead of picking holes in it, let's all get together, so that, if any disaster should overtake us, we at least shall have done our best."

The attorney-general revealed plans had been made for installation of air raid sirens in vulnerable metropolitan areas in British Columbia. He said details were being worked out by the authorities.

Provincial Police Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons said it was the job of the B.C. police to co-operate. "That is precisely what we are out to do," he added. "We want to co-operate with every agency engaged in protecting the interests of British Columbia."

Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns offered a prayer for guidance and help in the war. Reeve Woodhouse was chairman.
